

FEDERAL LAW NO. 208-FZ OF DECEMBER 26, 1995 ON JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES (with the Additions and Amendments of June 13, 1996, May 24, 1999, August 7, 2001, March 21, October 31, 2002, February 27, 2003, February 24, April 6, December 2, 29, 2004, December 27, 31, 2005, January 5, July 27, December 18, 2006, February 5, July 24, December 1, 2007)

Adopted by the State Duma on November 24, 1995

Chapter I. General Provisions

Article 1. Sphere of Application of this Federal Law

1. In accordance with the Civil Code of the Russian Federation, this Federal Law shall determine the procedure for the formation, re-organisation, liquidation and the legal status of joint-stock companies, the rights and duties of their shareholders, and also shall ensure the protection of the rights and interests of shareholders.

2. This Federal Law shall apply to all joint-stock companies formed or to be formed in the Russian Federation, unless otherwise provided for by this Federal Law or by other federal laws.

3. Federal laws shall define the particular aspects of the formation, re-organisation, liquidation, and the legal status of joint-stock companies in the spheres of banking, investment, and insurance activities.

4. Federal laws shall define the particular aspects of the formation, re-organisation, liquidation, and the legal status of joint-stock companies established based on collective and state farms, and also other agricultural enterprises reorganized in accordance with Decree of the President of the Russian Federation No. 323 of December 27, 1991 on Urgent Measures to Carry out the Land Reform in the RSFSR, and also the peasant (or private) farms, servicing and service enterprises for agricultural producers, namely, enterprises of material and technical supply, repair and technical enterprises, enterprises for agricultural chemistry, tree farms, inter-farm construction organizations, rural electric power enterprises, seed-growing stations, flax plants, and enterprises for the processing of vegetables.

5. The peculiarities of the formation of joint-stock companies in the event of privatisation of state and municipal enterprises shall be determined by federal law and other legal acts of the Russian Federation on privatisation of state and municipal enterprises. The peculiarities of the legal status of the joint-stock companies formed in the event of privatisation of state and municipal enterprises having 25 per cent of their shares in state ownership or municipal ownership or in respect of which the special participation right of the Russian Federation, Russian regions or municipal entities to take part in the management thereof is exercised ("golden share"), shall be determined by a federal law on the privatisation of state and municipal enterprises.

The particular aspects of the legal status of joint-stock companies established by privatizing state and municipally-owned enterprises shall be effective upon adoption of the decision concerning privatization until the time of sale by the State or by a municipal formation of 75 per cent of shares owned by them in such a joint-stock companies, but not later than the end of the period for privatization determined by the privatization plan of such an enterprise.

Article 2. The Basic Provisions Concerning Joint-Stock Companies

1. A joint-stock company (hereinafter referred to as a company) is a commercial organization whose charter capital is divided into a definite number of shares of stock certifying the rights and obligations of the participants in the company (shareholders) to the company.

Shareholders shall not be liable for obligations of the company and shall bear the risk of losses associated with its activity only to the extent of the value of shares of stock owned by them.

Shareholders who have not paid for stock in full shall be jointly and severally liable for the obligations of the company to the extent of the unpaid portion of the value of shares of stock owned by them.

The shareholders shall be entitled to alienate the shares they own, without the consent of the other shareholders and the company.

2. The provisions of the present Federal Law shall extend to companies having one shareholder in as much as is not provided otherwise in the present Federal Law and does not conflict with the essence of relevant relationships.

3. A company is a legal entity; it has separate assets in its ownership which are reported in a separate balance sheet and may in its own name acquire and exercise property and personal non-property rights, incur obligations, and be plaintiff or defendant in court.

The company shall not be entitled to make deals not relating to the founding of the company until the time when payment is made for 50 per cent of the company's shares distributed among its founders.

4. A company shall have civil rights and bear obligations required to pursue any types of activities not prohibited by federal laws.

A company may engage in certain types of activities, the list of which is determined by federal laws, only on the basis of a special authorization (or license). If granting of a special authorization (or license) to engage in a certain type of activity is conditioned on the engaging in such activity exclusively, during the period of operation of the special authorization (or license) the company may not engage in other types of activities throughout the period of operation of the special authorization (or license), except for the types of activities provided for by the special authorization (or license) or concomitant thereto.

5. A company shall be considered to be created as a legal entity upon its state registration according to the procedure established by federal laws. A company shall be created without time limitation unless otherwise provided for by its charter.

6. A company shall have the right to open bank accounts in the Russian Federation and outside its boundaries according to the established procedure.

7. A company must have a circular seal containing its full company name in Russian and a reference to its location. The seal also may indicate the company name in any foreign language or in any language of peoples of the Russian Federation.

A company may have stamps and letterheads with its name, emblem, and trademark and other means of visual identification registered according to the established procedure.

Article 3. Liability of a Company

1. A company shall be liable to the extent of its assets.

2. A company shall not be liable for the obligations of its shareholders.

3. If the insolvency (or bankruptcy) of a company is caused by the actions (or failure to act) of its shareholders or other persons vested with the right to issue instructions binding upon the company or otherwise having the power to determine its actions, then such shareholders or other persons may, if the company lacks sufficient assets, be held vicariously liable for its obligations.

The insolvency (or bankruptcy) of a company is considered to be caused by the actions (or failure to act) of its shareholders or other persons vested with the right to issue instructions binding upon the company or otherwise having the power to determine its actions, only where they have exercised such right and/or power in the furtherance of the company's carrying out of actions, knowing in advance that the consequence of carrying out said action would be the insolvency (or bankruptcy) of the company.

4. The State or its bodies shall not be liable for the obligations of the company and the company shall not be liable for the obligations of the State or its bodies.

Article 4. Company Name and Location of a Company

1. The company shall have a full company name and it has the right to have a brief company name in the Russian language. The company is also entitled to have a full and/or brief company name in the languages of the peoples of the Russian Federation and/or in foreign languages.

The full company name of the company in Russian shall comprise its full name and an indication of the type thereof (closed or open). The brief company name of the company in Russian shall comprise its full or brief name and the words "closed joint-stock company" or "open joint-stock company" or the abbreviation "ZAO" or "OAO".

The official name of a company in the Russian language and in the languages of the peoples of the Russian Federation may contain foreign credits in the Russian transcription or in the transcription of the peoples of the Russian Federation, with the exception of the terms and abbreviations reflecting the organizational-legal form of the company.

Other demands on the company's official name shall be established in the Civil Code of the Russian Federation.

2. The location of the company shall be determined by the place of its state registration.

Article 5. Branches and Representative Offices of a Company

1. A company may create branches and open representative offices on the territory of the Russian Federation in compliance with the requirements of this Federal Law and other federal laws.

A company shall create branches and opening representative offices outside of the boundaries the territory of the Russian Federation also in compliance with the legislation of the foreign state where the branch or representative office is located, unless otherwise provided for by an international treaty of the Russian Federation.

2. A branch of a company is a self-contained division thereof located other than at the location of the company, which performs all or some of its functions, including the functions of a representative office.

3. A representation of a company is a self-contained division thereof located other than at the location of the company, which represents and protects the interests of the company.

4. Branches and representative offices shall not be legal entities and shall operate on the basis of a statute approved by the company. A branch or a representative office shall be provided with assets by the company which created it, which assets are reported both in their separate balance sheets and in the balance sheet of the company.

The head of a branch and the head of a representative office shall be appointed by the company and shall act on the basis of a power of attorney issued thereby.

5. A branch or representative office shall operate in the name of the company which created it. The company which created the branch or representative office shall be liable for its activities.

6. The charter of a company must include information regarding its branches and representative offices. Notices regarding amendments to the charter of a company in connection with the change of information regarding its branches and representative offices shall be given to the state registration of legal entities body for informational purposes. Such amendments to the charter of the company shall take effect for third persons upon the delivery of the notice of such changes of the body responsible for the state registration of legal entities

Article 6. Subsidiaries and Dependents

1. A company may have subsidiaries and dependents which enjoy the rights of a legal entity on the territory of the Russian Federation and which are formed in accordance with this Federal Law and other federal laws, and may also have those outside the Russian Federation which are formed in accordance with the legislation of the foreign state where the subsidiary or dependent is located, unless otherwise provided for by an international treaty of the Russian Federation.

2. A company shall be deemed a subsidiary if another (principal) business company (or partnership), by virtue of predominant participation in its charter capital or in accordance with a contract concluded between them, or otherwise, has the power to determine decisions adopted by such company.

3. A subsidiary shall not be liable for the debts of the principal company (or partnership).

A principal company (or partnership) which has the right to issue binding instructions to the subsidiary shall be jointly and severally liable with such subsidiary for transactions concluded by the latter in the fulfillment of such instructions. The principal company (or partnership) shall be considered to have the right to issue binding instructions to the subsidiary only when such right is provided for in a contract with such subsidiary or by the charter of such subsidiary.

In the event of the insolvency (or bankruptcy) of the subsidiary through the fault of the principal company (or partnership), the latter shall be vicariously liable for debts of the former. The insolvency (or bankruptcy) of the subsidiary shall be considered to have occurred through the fault of the principal company (or partnership) only when the principal company (or partnership) has used the above right and/or power in furtherance of the subsidiary's carrying out of actions, knowing in advance that the consequence of carrying out the said action would be the insolvency (or bankruptcy) of the subsidiary.

The shareholders of a subsidiary shall have the right to demand that the principal company (or partnership) compensate losses caused through its fault to the subsidiary. The losses shall be considered to be caused through the fault of the principal company (or partnership) only when the principal company (or partnership) has used its right and/or power in furtherance of the subsidiary's carrying out of actions, knowing in advance that the subsidiary would incur losses as a consequence of carrying out such actions.

4. A company shall be deemed a dependent if another (prevailing) company holds more than 20 percent of the voting stock in the former company.

A company which has acquired more than 20 per cent of the voting stock in a company shall be obliged to publish information thereon immediately according to the procedure established by the the federal executive body responsible for the securities market

Article 7. Open and Closed Companies

1. A company may be open or closed, which shall be reflected in its charter and company name.

2. The open company shall have the right to hold open subscriptions to the stock it is issuing and to sell such stock without limitations, subject to the requirements of this Federal Law and other statutory acts of the Russian Federation. An open company shall have the right to hold closed subscriptions to the stock it is issuing, except in instances when the possibility of holding closed subscriptions is limited by the charter of the company or requirements of statutory acts of the Russian Federation.

The number of shareholders of an open company shall not be limited.

In an open company it is prohibited to establish the company's or its shareholders' priority right to acquire shares alienated by shareholders of the company.

3. A company whose stock is only distributed among its founders or another previously determined range of persons is deemed a closed company. Such company may not hold open subscriptions to the stock it is issuing or otherwise offer the same for acquisition to an unlimited number of persons.

The number of shareholders of a closed company shall not exceed fifty.

If the number of shareholders of a closed company exceeds the number established by this Clause, then such company within one year shall be transformed into an open company. If the number of its shareholders is not reduced to the number stipulated in this Clause, then the company shall be subject to liquidation on the basis of a court ruling.

The shareholders of the closed company shall enjoy a right of priority to acquire shares sold by the other shareholders of the company at a price offered to a third person pro rata to the quantity of the shares owned by each of them, unless another procedure is provided in the company's charter for exercising this right. The charter of a closed company may envisage the company's priority right to acquire shares sold by its shareholders if shareholders did not use their priority right to acquire the shares.

A shareholder of the company who intends to sell his shares to a third person shall notify accordingly the rest of the company's shareholders and the company proper including indication of the price and other terms for the sale of the shares. The company's shareholders shall be notified through the company. Except as otherwise provided in the company's charter the company's shareholders shall be notified at the expense of the shareholder who intends to sell his shares.

If the shareholders of the company and/or the company do not use their priority right to acquire all the shares offered for sale within two months of such a notice, unless a shorter term is stipulated by the company's charter, the shares may be sold to a third person at the price and on the terms of which the company and the shareholders have been informed. The term for exercising the priority right envisaged by the charter of the company shall be at least equal to ten days after the date of the notice sent, by the shareholder who intends to sell their shares to a third person, to the rest of the company's shareholders and to the company proper. The term for exercising the priority right shall be terminated if before its expiration written applications are received from all the shareholders of the company as to their desire to exercise or refusal to exercise the priority right.

When shares are sold in breach of the priority right of acquisition any shareholder of the company and/or the company proper, if the charter of the company envisages the company's priority right to acquire shares, shall be entitled to apply to the court claiming the transfer of buyer's rights and duties thereto, within three months after the time when the shareholder or the company learned or should have learnt about such a breach.

4. Companies whose founders are, in the instances stipulated by federal laws, the Russian Federation, a member of the Russian Federation, or a municipal formation (except for companies formed in the process of privatization of state and municipally-owned enterprises) may only be open companies.

Chapter II. The Formation, Re-Organisation and Liquidation of a Company

Article 8. Formation of a Company

A company may be formed by being founded as a new company or by means of the reorganization of an existing legal entity (accession, division, separation, or transformation).

A company shall be considered formed upon its state registration.

Article 9. Founding of a Company

1. A company shall be formed by founding by decision of the founders (or founder). The decision on the founding of a company shall be adopted at the organizational meeting. In the event a company is founded by a sole individual, such individual alone adopts the decision on the founding of a company.

2. The decision on establishing a company must contain the results of voting of the founders thereof and the decisions adopted by them in respect of the matters of establishing the company, approving the charter thereof, electing the company's governing bodies and the inspection commission (inspector) of the company.

3. The founders shall unanimously adopt decisions on the founding of a company, approval of its charter, and approval of the monetary valuation of securities, other items or property rights, or other rights having monetary valuation contributed by the founders to pay for the company stock.

4. The company's governing bodies, its inspection commission (inspector) shall be elected and, in the case provided for by this Item, the company's auditor shall be endorsed, by the founders of the company by a three quarters majority of votes which represent the stocks to be distributed to the founders thereof.

When establishing a company, the founders thereof may endorse the company's auditor. In this case, a decision on establishing the company must contain the results of voting of the company's founders and the decision on endorsing the company's auditor rendered by the founders thereof.

5. The founders of the company shall enter into a contract in writing regarding the formation of the company, which determines the procedure for their engaging into the joint activity of the founding of the company, the amount of the charter capital of the company, the categories and types of stock subject to placement among the founders, and amount and procedure for the paying therefor, and the rights and duties of the founders in connection with the formation of the company. A contract regarding the formation of a company shall not be the foundation document of the company.

In the event of a company's having been founded by one person the decision whereby it is founded shall set out the amount of its authorised capital, the categories (types) of shares and the rate and procedure for the payment of shares.

6. The peculiarities of founding companies with a foreign investors' interest may be set out by federal laws.

Article 10. Founders of a Company

1. The founders of a company shall be citizens and/or legal entities who have adopted a decision on the founding thereof.

The state bodies and bodies of local self-government may not act as the founders of a company, unless otherwise provided for by federal laws.

2. The number of founders of an open company shall not be limited. The number of founders of a closed company may not exceed fifty.

A company may not have as a sole founder (or shareholder) another business company consisting of one person, if not otherwise established by federal laws.

3. The founders of a company shall be jointly and severally liable for the obligations associated with the formation of the company and arising prior to the state registration of such company.

A company shall not be liable for the obligations of the founders associated with the formation of the company, unless their actions have been subsequently approved by the general meeting of shareholders.

Article 11. Charter of a Company

1. The charter of a company shall be the foundation document of the company.

2. All company bodies and company shareholders shall comply with the requirements of the company charter.

3. The company charter must contain the following information:

the full and abbreviated names of the company;

the location of the company;

the type of company (open or closed);

the number, par value, and categories (common, preferred) of stocks, and types of preferred stock to be placed by the company;

the rights of the holders of stock of each category (or type);

the amount of the charter capital of the company;

the composition and authority of the governing bodies of the company and the procedure for the adoption of resolutions by them;

the procedure for the preparation and conducting of the general meeting of shareholders, including decisions on matters to be resolved by a qualified majority or unanimous vote of the governing bodies of the company;

information concerning branches and representative offices of the company;

other provisions provided for by this Federal Law and other federal laws.

The company's charter may impose limits on the quantity and total par value of stock held or the maximum number of votes cast by any one shareholder.

The company's charter may contain other provisions which are not contrary to this Federal Law and other federal laws.

The charter of the company shall contain information on the exercise of the special right of the Russian Federation, a Russian region or a municipal entity of taking part in managing the company ("golden share").

4. If so required by a shareholder, auditor, or any interested person, a company shall be obliged within reasonable a period to provide them with the possibility to familiarize themselves with the company's charter, including amendments and addenda thereto. If so required by a shareholder, the company shall be obliged to provide such stockholder with a copy of then effective company's charter. Payment recovered by the company for a copy may not exceed the expenses for the manufacture thereof.

Article 12. Amending the charter of a company and approving a new version of the charter of a company

1. The charter of a company shall be amended or a new version of the charter of a company shall be approved by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders, except for the cases stipulated in Items 2 - 6 of the present Article.

2. The introduction of amendments and addenda to the charter of a company according to the results of flotation of its shares, in particular, amendments relating to an increase in the company's authorised capital, shall be effected on the basis of the results of placing the company's stocks by decision of a general meeting of stockholders on increasing the authorised capital of the company or the decision of the company's board of directors (supervisory board), if under the company's charter the latter has the right to take such decisions, on the basis of the decision of a general meeting of stockholders on decreasing the authorised capital by way of reducing the nominal value of stocks thereof, or by other decision being the basis for floating shares and emissive securities convertible into stocks and a registered report on the results of a stock issue or, if according to a federal law the procedure for issuing stocks does not provide for the state registration of the report on the results of the stocks' issue, an extract from the register of emissive securities. When the authorised capital of a company is increased by means of floating additional stocks, the authorised capital shall be increased by the face value sum of the additional stocks so floated and the quantity of announced shares of specific category and type shall be reduced by the number of the additional stocks of these categories and types floated.

3. The introduction of amendments and addenda to the charter of a company in connection with a reduction in the company's authorised capital by means of acquisition of the company's stock for the purpose of paying them off shall be effected by decision of a general meeting of shareholders on such a reduction and a report on the results of the stocks' acquisition endorsed by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company. The introduction of amendments and addenda to the company's charter in connection with a decrease of the company's authorised capital by paying off the own stocks of the company possessed by it in the cases provided for by this Federal Law shall be effected on the basis of the decision of a general meeting of shareholders on such decrease and a report on the results of the stocks' redemption endorsed by the company's board of directors (supervisory board). In such a case, the authorised capital of the company shall be reduced by the face value sum of the stocks so paid off.

4. The insertion of provisions in the charter of a company concerning the exercise of the special right of the Russian Federation, a Russian region or a municipal entity to participate in the management of said company ("golden share") shall be effected by a decision of the Government of the Russian Federation, a governmental body of a Russian region or a local government body on the exercise of the special right and the deletion of such provisions shall be effected by the decision of these bodies on the termination of such a special right.

5. The introduction of amendments to the charter of a company in connection with the formation of branches, opening of the company's representative offices or the liquidation thereof shall be effected by decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company.

6. The introduction of amendments and addenda to a company's charter, as regards specifying the rate of its authorised capital, shall be effected subject to the results of floating stocks as of the time of establishing the company by way of re-organisation in the form of merger on the basis of a contract of merger and a registered report on the results of the issue of the stocks floated when establishing this company.

Article 13. State Registration of a Company

A company shall be subject to state registration with the body exercising the state registration of legal entities under such procedure as may be determined by federal law on the state registration of legal entities.

Article 14. State Registration of Amendments and Addenda to a Company's Charter or Restated Version of a Company's Charter

1. Amendments and addenda to the company's charter or the restated version of the company's charter shall be subject to state registration according to the procedure determined by Article 13 hereof with respect to the company's registration.

2. Amendments and addenda to the company's charter or the restated version of the company's charter shall become effective with respect to third persons upon their state registration, or where stipulated hereby, upon notification of the body exercising state registration.

Article 15. Reorganization of a Company

1. A company may be voluntarily reorganized according to the procedure provided for by this Federal Law. The peculiarities of the reorganization of a company being a natural monopoly entity over 25 per cent of the shares of which is placed in federal ownership shall be provided by a federal law establishing grounds and procedure for the reorganization of such a company.

The Civil Code of the Russian Federation and other federal laws shall provide for other grounds and procedures of reorganization of a company.

2. The reorganization of a company may be carried out in the form of merger, accession, division, separation, or transformation.

3. The assets of companies formed as the result of a re-organisation shall be generated only from the assets of the companies being re-organised.

4. A company shall be deemed reorganized upon state registration of the resultant legal entities, except when reorganized by accession.

In the event of re-organisation of a company in the form of another company being affiliated thereto, the former shall be deemed reorganised as of the time when an entry on the termination of the affiliated company's activities is made in the combined state register of legal entities.

5. Federal laws shall determine the procedure for the state registration of companies resulting from reorganization and for posting an entry on the termination of activities of the reorganized companies.

6. Within 30 days of the date of the decision whereby a company is re-organised or where a company is re-organised in the form of a merger or affiliation, after the date of the decision to this effect made by the last of the companies involved in the merger or affiliation, the company shall notify in writing its creditors and publish an announcement about the decision so made in a printed publication intended for the making public of information on the state registration of legal entities. In this case the creditors of the company shall within 30 days of the date when the notices were forwarded to them or within 30 days after the date when the announcement of the decision was published, be entitled to demand in writing a termination or discharge of relevant obligations of the company before the due date and reimbursement of losses.

The state registration of companies formed as the result of a re-organisation and the making of entries on the termination of the activities of re-organised companies shall be effected if there is proof that the creditors have been notified in compliance with the procedure established in this item.

If the statement of division/separation provides no possibility for determining the successor of the reorganized company, then the new established legal entities shall be jointly and severally liable for the obligations of the reorganized company with respect to its creditors.

The transfer certificate and the partition balance sheet must contain the provisions concerning legal succession in respect of all obligations of the company to be re-organised towards its creditors and debtors, including disputable obligations, and a procedure for defining legal succession in connection with modifications of the type, composition and value of property of the company to be re-organised, as well as in connection with the rise, modification and termination of the rights and duties of the company to be re-organised that can take place after the date when the transfer certificate and the partition balance sheet are drawn up.

7. A contract of merger, a contract of affiliation or a decision on re-organisation of a company in the form of division, devolution or transformation may provide for a special procedure for making by the company to be re-organised some transactions and (or) some kinds of transactions, or for the prohibition to make them as of the time of rendering the decision on the company's re-organisation and up to the time of its completion. A transaction made in defiance of the said special procedure or prohibition may be declared invalid on the basis of a claim of the company to be re-organised and (or) the companies to be re-organised, as well as of a stockholder of the company to be reorganised and (or) the companies to be re-organised that was such at the time of making the transaction.

In respect of the persons specified in Subitems 5-7 of Item 3 of Article 16, Subitems 4-6 of Item 3 of Article 18, Subitems 4-6 of Item 3 of Article 19, Subitems 4-7 of Item 3 of Article 20 of this Federal Law a contract of merger or a decision on a company's re-organisation in the form of division, affiliation or transformation must contain the following:

Name and data of the document certifying the identity (the document's series and (or) number, date and place of its issuance, body that has issued it) - in respect of natural persons;

denomination, data on the location - in respect of the management organisation, if such contract or decision provides for the transfer of powers of the personal executive body a company to be established by way of re-organisation to the management company.

If a contract of merger or a decision on a company's reorganisation in the form of division, devolution or transformation provide for indicating the auditor of the company to be established or the companies to be established, such contract or decision must contain the following:

Denomination and data on the location - in respect of an audit organisation;

Name and data of the document certifying the identity (the document's series and (or) number, date and place of its issuance, body that has issued the document) - in respect of an individual businessman engaged in audit activity without forming a legal entity.

Article 16. Merger of Companies

1. The merger of companies shall be deemed to be the arising of a new company by transferring to it of all the rights and obligations of two or several companies with the termination of the latter companies.

2. The companies participating in a merger shall enter into a merger contract. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of each company participating in the merger shall submit for settling by a general meeting of shareholders of each such company the question of reorganisation in the form of merger, as well as the question of electing members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company to be established as a result of the merger.

A general meeting of shareholders of each company participating in a merger shall render a decision as to the re-organisation of each such company in the form of merger comprising endorsement of the contract of merger, the transfer certificate of the company participating in the merger, the charter of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of the merger, as well as shall render a decision in respect of electing members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised in the number established by a draft contract of merger for each company participating in the merger, if the charter of the company to be established in compliance with this Federal Law does not provide for the exercise of the functions of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company by a general meeting of this company's stockholders. The ratio of the number of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established elected by each company participating in a merger to the total number of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established must be proportionate to the ratio of the number of the stocks of the company to be established, which are subject to distribution to stockholders of the appropriate company participating in the merger, to the total number of the stocks of the company to be established which are subject to distribution. The number of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established which are elected by each company participating in the merger, estimated in compliance with this Item, shall be approximated to a whole number in compliance with the effective procedure of approximation.

3. A contract of merger must contain the following:

1) denomination and data on the location of each company participating in the merger, as well as denomination and data on the location of the company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of merger;

2) procedure for, and terms of, the merger;

3) procedure for converting stocks of each company participating in the merger into stocks of the company to be established and conversion ratio (coefficient) of stocks of such companies;

4) indication as to the number of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established which are elected by each company participating in the merger, if the charter of the company to be established in compliance with this Federal Law does not provide for exercising the functions of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to be established by a general meeting of stockholders of this company;

5) list of members of the inspection commission or indication as to the inspector of the company to be established;

6) list of members of the collective executive body of the company to be established, if the charter of the company to be established provides for the collective executive body and its forming pertains to the authority of a general meeting of shareholders;

7) indication as to the person exercising the functions of the personal executive body of the company to be established;

8) denomination and data on the location of the professional securities market maker exercising the activity of keeping the register of owners of registered securities of the company to be established (hereinafter referred to as the registrar), if under the federal laws the register of stockholders of the company to be established must be kept by the registrar.

3.1. A contract of merger may contain an indication as to the auditor of the company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of merger and the registrar of the company to be established, an indication as to the transfer of powers of the personal executive body of the company to be established to the management company or the manager, other data on the persons specified by Subitems 5-7 of Item 3 of this Article, other provisions concerning re-organisation which do not contravene federal laws.

4. In the event of a merger of companies the shares of a company that were owned by another company taking part in the merger and also its own shares owned by the company taking part in the merger shall be redeemed.

5. If companies are merged, then all the rights and duties of each shall be transferred to the new company, pursuant to a deed of transfer.

Article 17. Accession of a Company

1. The accession of a company shall be deemed to be the termination of one or several companies with the transfer of all their rights and obligations to the other company.

2. The acceding company and the company to which the accession is being carried out shall enter into the accession contract.

The board of directors (or supervisory board) of each company participating in accession shall submit for settling by a general meeting of shareholders of each such company participating in the accession the issue concerning re-organisation in the form of accession. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to which the accession is being carried out, shall likewise submit for settling by a general meeting of stockholders of such company other issues, if it is provided for by the accession contract.

A general meeting of shareholders of the company, to which the accession is being carried out, shall render a decision on the issue of re-organisation in the form of accession which includes the endorsement of the accession contract, and shall render decisions on other issues (including a decision on making amendments and addenda to the charter of such company), if it is provided for by the accession contract. A general meeting of shareholders of the acceding company shall render a decision on the issue of re-organisation in the form of accession which shall include the endorsement of the accession contract and the transfer certificate.

3. An accession contract must contain the following:

- 1) denomination and data on the location of each company participating in the accession;
- 2) procedure for, and terms of, the accession;
- 3) procedure for converting stocks of the acceding company into stocks of the company to which the accession is being carried out and conversion ratio of such companies' stocks.

3.1. An accession contract may contain a list of amendments and addenda to be made to the charter of the company, to which the accession is being carried out, and other provisions concerning re-organisation which do not contravene the federal laws.

4. In the event of a company's accession, the following shall be paid off:

- 1) own stocks possessed by the acceding company;
- 2) stocks of the acceding company possessed by the company to which the accession is being carried out;
- 3) stocks of the accessing company possessed by the company to which the accession is being carried out, if it is provided for by the accession contract.

4.1. If own stocks possessed by the company to which the accession is being carried out, are not subject to redemption in compliance with Subitem 3 of Item 4 of this Article, such stocks shall not grant the right of vote, shall not be taken into account when counting votes and dividends shall not be charged on them. Such stocks must be sold by the company at the price which is not lower than their market value and at latest in one year after their acquisition by the company, otherwise the company shall be obliged to render a decision on decreasing its authorised capital by way of such stocks' redemption.

5. If a company is accessed to another company, then the rights and obligations of the acceding company shall be transferred to such other company, pursuant to a deed of transfer.

Article 18. Division of a Company

1. The division of a company shall be deemed to be the termination of a company by the transfer of all of its rights and obligations to the newly-established companies.

2. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised in the form of division shall submit for the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders the issue concerning the re-organisation of the company in the form of division, as well as the issue concerning the election of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of each company to be established by way of division, if the charter of the appropriate company to be established in compliance with this Federal Law does not provide for the exercise of the functions of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of this company by a general meeting of this company's stockholders.

3. A general meeting of shareholders of the company to be reorganised by way of division called to discuss the issue of the company's re-organisation in the form of division shall render a decision on the company's re-organisation which must contain the following:

- 1) denomination and data on the location of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division;
- 2) procedure for, and terms of, the division;
- 3) procedure for converting stocks of the company to be reorganised into stocks of each company to be established and conversion ratio (coefficient) of such companies' stocks;
- 4) list of members of the inspection commission or indication as to the inspector of each company to be established;
- 5) list of members of the collective executive body of each company to be established, if the charter of the appropriate company to be established provides for the presence of the collective executive body and its forming pertains to the scope of authority of a general meeting of shareholders thereof;
- 6) indication as to the person exercising the functions of the personal executive body of each company to be established;
- 7) indication as to the endorsement of the partition balance sheet with the partition balance sheet attached thereto;
- 8) indication as to the endorsement of the charter of each company to be established attaching thereto the charter of each company to be established;
- 9) denomination and data on the location of the registrar of each company to be established, if under the federal laws the register of this company's stockholders must be kept by the registrar.

3.1. A decision on re-organisation in the form of division may contain an indication as to the auditor of the company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division and the registrar of the company to be established, an indication as to the transfer of authority of the personal executive body of the company to be established to the management company or the manager, other data on the persons mentioned in Subitems 4-6 of Item 3 of this Article and other provisions on the re-organisation which do not contravene the federal laws.

3.2. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division shall be elected by the stockholders of the company to be re-organised to which ordinary stocks of the appropriate company to be re-organised are to be distributed in compliance with the decision of the company to be re-organised, as well as by the stockholders possessing preferred shares of the company to be re-organised (which are voting stocks at the time of rendering the decision on the company's re-organisation in compliance with Item 5 of Article 32 of this Federal Law) to which preferred shares of the appropriate company to be established are to be distributed in compliance with the decision on the company's reorganisation.

3.3. Each stockholder of the company to be re-organised, which has voted against the decision on the company's re-organisation and which has not participated in voting on the issue of the company's reorganisation, must receive the stocks of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division granting the same rights as the stocks of the company to be re-organised, which are possessed by him, in proportion to their number.

4. If a company is split up, all of its rights and obligations shall be transferred to the two or several newly-established companies, pursuant to a statement of division.

Article 19. Separation of a Company

1. The separation of a company shall be deemed to be the formation of one or several companies with the transfer to them of part of the rights and duties of the reorganized company without the termination of the latter.

2. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised in the form of devolution shall submit for settling by a general meeting of such company's stockholders the issue of the company's re-organisation in the form of devolution, as well as the issue of electing the board of directors (or supervisory board) of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of devolution, if the charter of the appropriate company to be established in compliance with this Federal Law does not provide for the exercise of the functions of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of this company by a general meeting of this company's shareholders.

3. A general meeting of shareholders of a company to be reorganised in the form of devolution called to discuss the issue of the company's re-organisation in the form of devolution shall render a decision on the company's re-organisation which must contain the following:

1) denomination and data on the location of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of devolution;

2) procedure for, and terms of, the devolution;

3) way of floating stocks of each company to be established (converting stocks of the company to be re-organised into stocks of the company to be established, distributing stocks of the company to be established to stockholders of the company to be re-organised, acquiring stocks of the company to be established by the company to be reorganised proper), procedure for such floating and, in the event of converting stocks of the company to be re-organised into stocks of the company to be established, conversion ratio (coefficient) of such companies' stocks;

4) list of members of the inspection commission or indication as to the inspector of each company to be established;

5) list of members of the collective executive body of each company to be established, if the charter of the appropriate company to be established provides for the presence of the collective executive body and its forming pertains to the scope of authority of a general meeting of shareholders thereof;

6) indication as to the person exercising the functions of the personal executive body of each company to be established;

7) indication as to the endorsement of the partition balance sheet with the partition balance sheet attached thereto;

8) indication as to the endorsement of the charter of each company to be established attaching thereto the charter of each company to be established;

9) denomination and data on the location of the registrar of the company to be established, if under the federal laws the register of this company's stockholders must be kept by the registrar.

3.1. A decision on re-organisation in the form of devolution may contain an indication as to the auditor of the company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of devolution, on the registrar of the company to be established, an indication as to the transfer of authority of the personal executive body of the company to be established to the management organisation or the manager, other data on the persons mentioned in Subitems 4-6 of Item 3 of this Article and other provisions on re-organisation which do not contravene the federal laws.

3.2. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of devolution shall be elected by the stockholders of the company to be re-organised, to which under the decision on the company's re-organisation ordinary stocks of the appropriate company to be re-organised are to be distributed, and by the stockholders possessing preferred shares of the company to be re-organised (which are voting stocks at the time of rendering the decision on re-organisation in compliance with Item 5 of Article 32 of this Federal Law), to which preferred shares of the appropriate company to be established are to be distributed in compliance with the decision on the company's re-organisation.

If in compliance with the decision on a company's re-organisation in the form of devolution the company to be re-organised is the only stockholder of the company to be established, the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established shall be elected by stockholders of the company to be re-organised.

3.3. If the decision on a company's re-organisation in the form of devolution provides for converting stocks of the company to be reorganised into stocks of the company to be established or for distribution of stocks of the company to be established to stockholders of the company to be re-organised, each stockholder of the company to be re-organised which has voted against the decision on the company's reorganisation and which has not participated in voting in respect of the issue of the re-organisation must receive the stocks of each company to be established granting the same rights as the stocks of the company to be re-organised which are in his possession, in proportion to their number.

4. If one or more companies are separated from a company, then the rights and obligations of the reorganized company shall be transferred to each newly-established company pursuant to a statement of separation.

Article 19.1. Specifics of a Company's Division or Devolution Effected Concurrently with Merger or Affiliation

1. The decision of a general meeting of a company's stockholders on the company's re-organisation in the form of its division or devolution may provide in respect of one or several companies to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division or devolution the provision concerning the concurrent merger of the company to be established with other company or companies or concerning the concurrent accession of the company to be established to another company. In such case, the re-organisation shall be effected in compliance with the provisions of Articles 15-19 of this Federal Law, if not otherwise established by this Article.

2. A contract of merger or a contract of accession shall be signed on behalf of the company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division or devolution by the person appointed by decision of a general meeting of shareholders of the company to be re-organised in the form of division or devolution in compliance with this Article.

3. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised in the form of division or devolution in compliance with this Article, when submitting for settling by a general meeting of shareholders the issue of the company's re-organisation in the form of division or devolution, shall likewise submit the issue of re-organising the company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of division or devolution by way of merger thereof with other company or companies or by way of accession thereof to another company.

4. A general meeting of shareholders of the company to be reorganised in the form of division in compliance with this Article shall render in compliance with Articles 16 or 17 and Article 18 of this Federal Law accordingly decisions on the following:

- 1) on the company's re-organisation in the form of division;
- 2) on re-organisation of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division by way of merger thereof with other company or other companies, or by way of accession thereof to other company.

5. A general meeting of shareholders of the company to be reorganised in compliance with this Article in the form of devolution shall render in compliance with Articles 16 or 17 and Article 19 of this Federal Law accordingly the following decisions:

- 1) on the company's re-organisation in the form of devolution;
- 2) on re-organisation of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of devolution by way of merger thereof with an other company or companies, or by way of accession thereof to other company.

6. The decision of a general meeting of a company's shareholders on the company's re-organisation in the form of division or devolution rendered in compliance with this Article may provide for the condition of this decision's entry into force, solely if a general meeting of shareholders of the company to be re-organised renders the decision on the concurrent merger of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution with other company or other companies, or on the concurrent accession of the company to be established to another company or companies and (or) if a general meeting of shareholders of other company or companies participating in the merger or accession renders the decisions specified by Item 2 of Article 16 or Item 2 of Article 17 of this Federal Law.

7. Securities of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution in compliance with this Article shall be issued without the state registration of issues of its securities and the state registration of reports on the results of their issuance.

The state registration number or identification number shall be assigned by the registration authority to such issues of securities concurrently with the state registration of an issue (additional issue) of the emissive securities to be floated in the event of merger of the company to be established with another company or companies, or accession of the company to be established to other company in the procedure established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market. If the floating of securities of the company to be established by way of affiliation to another company is not provided for, the state registration number or the identification number shall be assigned to securities of the company to be established by the registration authority in the procedure established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

The register of owners of emissive securities of a company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution with the concurrent merger thereof with other company or other companies or with the concurrent affiliation thereof to another company shall be kept by the holder of the register of stockholders of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of merger or of the company to which the accession is being carried out.

8. The partition balance sheet containing the provisions in respect of appointing the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution as the legal successor of the company to be re-organised in the form of division or devolution, shall be deemed to be the transfer certificate under which the rights and duties of the company to be re-organised in the form of division or devolution shall be transferred to the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of merger or to the company to which the affiliation of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution is being carried out.

9. When re-organising a company in the form of division or devolution concurrently reorganisation in the form of merger, reorganisation in the form of merger shall be deemed completed as of the time of the state registration of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of merger.

A company's reorganisation in the form of division or devolution and concurrent reorganisation in the form of affiliation shall be deemed completed as of the time of making an entry to the comprehensive state register of legal entities in respect of termination of activities of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution.

Such entry shall be made concurrently with making to the comprehensive state register of legal entities an entry in respect of the state registration of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution. In so doing, an entry in respect of the state registration of the company to be established by way of reorganisation in the form of division or devolution shall be made first and after it an entry in respect of termination of its activities shall be made.

Article 20. Transformation of a Company

1. A company may be transformed into a limited liability company or into a production cooperative, subject to the requirements established by federal laws.

By a unanimous decision of all the shareholders the company shall be entitled to transform itself into a non-commercial partnership.

2. The board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised in the form of transformation shall submit for settling by a general meeting of shareholders of such company the issue of the company's reorganisation in the form of transformation.

3. A general meeting of shareholders of a company to be reorganised in the form of transformation, called to discuss the issue of the company's reorganisation in the form of transformation, shall render a decision on reorganisation which must contain the following:

1) denomination and data on the location of the legal entity to be established by way of the company's reorganisation in the form of transformation;

2) procedure for, and terms of, the transformation;

3) procedure for exchanging the company's stocks for shares of participants in the authorised capital of a limited (superadded) liability company or for shares of members of a producers' co-operative, if the company is being transformed into a limited (superadded) liability company or a producers' cooperative, or procedure for determining the composition of the property or the cost of the property which a member of a non-profit partnership that has been a stockholder of the company transformed into this non-profit partnership is entitled to obtain in the event of the member's leaving the non-profit partnership or being expelled from it or in the event of liquidation of the non-profit partnership;

4) list of members of the inspection commission or indication as to the inspector of the legal entity to be established, if under the federal laws the charter of the legal entity to be established provides for the presence of the inspection commission or the inspector and forming of the inspection commission or election of the inspector pertains to the scope of authority of the supreme governing body of the legal entity to be established;

5) list of members of the collective executive body of the legal entity to be established, if in compliance with the federal laws the charter of such legal entity provides for the presence of the collective executive body and its forming pertains to the scope of authority of the supreme governing body of such legal entity;

6) indication as to the person exercising the functions of the personal executive body of the legal entity to be established;

7) list of members of another body (except for a general meeting of participants of an economic company or of members of a non-profit partnership) of the legal entity to be established, if under the federal laws the charter of the legal entity to be established provides for the presence of other body and its forming pertains to scope of authority of the supreme governing body of the legal entity to be established;

8) indication as to the endorsement of the transfer certificate with the transfer certificate attached thereto;

9) indication as to the endorsement of the constituent documents of the legal entity with the constituent documents thereof attached thereto.

3.1. The decision on a company's re-organisation in a form of transformation may contain an indication as to the auditor of the legal entity to be established by way of the company's re-organisation in the form of transformation, other data on the persons specified in Subitems 4-7 of Item 3 of this Article and other provisions on the company's reorganisation which do not contravene the federal laws.

4. If a company is transformed, then all the rights and duties of the reorganized company shall be transferred to such newly-established legal entity, pursuant to a deed of transfer.

Article 21. Liquidation of a Company

1. A company may be liquidated voluntarily according the procedure established by the Civil Code of the Russian Federation, subject to the requirements of this Federal Law and the charter of the company. The company may be liquidated by decision of a court on the grounds provided for by the Civil Code of the Russian Federation.

The liquidation of a company shall result in its termination, with no transfer of rights and obligations by succession to other persons.

2. If the company is liquidated voluntarily, then the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company subject to liquidation shall submit for decision at the general meeting of shareholders the issue concerning the liquidation of the company and the appointment of the liquidation commission.

The general meeting of shareholders of a company subject to liquidation shall voluntarily adopt a resolution concerning liquidation of the company and the appointment of the liquidation commission.

3. As of the appointment of the liquidation commission, the latter shall acquire all the powers relating to the management of the affairs of the company. The liquidation commission shall act in court in the name of the company subject to liquidation.

4. When a shareholder of a company subject to liquidation is a state or a municipal formation, a representative of the respective Committee for the Management of Property or Property Fund or of the respective body of local self-government shall be included on the board of the liquidation commission.

Article 22. Procedure for Liquidating a Company

1. The liquidation commission shall publish in the press a notice on liquidation of the company and the procedure and deadline for creditor claims. The duration of such a deadline for creditor claims may not be less than two months from the publication of the notice on liquidation of the company.

2. If as of the adoption of the decision on liquidation, the company has no obligations to creditors, then its assets shall be distributed among the shareholders in accordance with Article 23 of this Federal Law.

3. The liquidation commission shall take measures to inform creditors and pay off the company's debts, and also inform the creditors about the liquidation of the company in writing.

4. Upon expiry of the deadline for creditor claims, the liquidation commission shall draw up the interim liquidation balance sheet, which shall contain information concerning the composition of the property of the company subject to liquidation, the demands presented by creditors, and also the results of their consideration. The interim liquidation balance sheet shall be approved by the general meeting of shareholders

5. Should the monetary funds existing in the company under liquidation prove insufficient to meet the creditor claims, the liquidation commission shall sell other company property by public sale according to the procedure established for the execution of judicial decisions.

6. Monetary funds due to the creditors of a company under liquidation shall be paid thereto by the liquidation commission in the order of priority established by the Civil Code of the Russian Federation, pursuant to the interim liquidation balance sheet and commencing from the date of approval thereof, with the exception of fifth priority creditors, which shall be repaid one month after the approval of the interim liquidation balance sheet.

7. After completion of settlements with creditors, the liquidation commission shall draw up the liquidation balance sheet, which shall be approved by the general meeting of shareholders

Article 23. Distribution of Property of a Company under Liquidation among Shareholders

1. The property of the company subject to liquidation remaining after the completion of the settlement of accounts with creditors shall be distributed by the liquidation commission among the shareholders in the following priorities:

- first priority shall be accorded to payments relating to stock which must be re-purchased in accordance with Article 75 of this Federal Law;
- second priority shall be accorded to payments for dividends credited but not paid with regard to preferred stock and to the liquidation value of preferred stock determined by the charter of the company;
- third priority shall be accorded to the distribution of assets of the company under liquidation among the holders of common stock and all types of preferred stock.

2. The distribution of property of each priority shall be effectuated after the full distribution of property of the preceding priority. The payment by the company of the liquidation value of preferred stock determined by the charter of the company shall be effectuated after the payment in full of the liquidation value of the preferred stock of the previous priority determined by the charter of the company.

If the value of property existing in the company is insufficient for the payment of dividends credited but not paid, and also the liquidation value determined by the charter of the company for all holders of preferred stock of one type, then the property shall be distributed among the holders of such type of preferred stock in proportion to the quantity of stock owned by them.

Article 24. Completion of Liquidation of a Company

The liquidation of a company shall be considered to be completed, and the company to have terminated its existence, as of the date of the respective entry by the body of state registration in the Uniform State Register of Legal Entities.

Chapter III. Charter Capital of a Company. Stocks, Bonds, and Other Issues Securities of a Company. Net Assets of a Company

Article 25. Charter Capital and Stock of a Company

1. The company shall float ordinary shares and be entitled to float one or several types of preferred shares.

The par value of all common stock of the company must be equal.

The charter capital of a company shall determine the minimum amount of the property of a company securing the interests of its creditors.

2. A company shall have the right to issue common stock, and also one or several types of preferred stock. The par value of the preferred stock issued must not exceed 25 per cent of the charter capital of the company.

When founding a company, all of its stock must be distributed among the founders.

All stock certificates of a company shall be inscribed.

3. If, in the course of exercising a priority right to acquire shares sold by a shareholder of a closed company, a priority right to acquire additional shares and also in share consolidation, the shareholder cannot acquire an integral number of shares, fractions of shares shall be created (hereinafter referred to as "fractional shares").

The fractional share confers on its owner the rights provided by a share of a relevant category (type) within the scope corresponding to the part of a full share it represents.

For the purposes of recording the total number of floated shares in the charter of a company all floated fractional shares shall be added up. If a fractional number is obtained as the result thereof the number of the shares floated shall be shown as a fractional number in the charter of the company.

Fractional shares shall be traded on an equal basis with full shares. If a person acquires two or more fractional shares of a certain category (type) these shares shall make up one full and/or a fractional share equal to the sum of these fractional shares.

Article 26. Minimum Charter Capital of a Company

The minimum charter capital of an open company shall be equal to not less than a thousand times the minimum amount for payment of labor established by a federal law on the date of registration of the company, and of a closed company, not less than one hundred times the amount of payment of labor established by a federal law on the date of state registration of the company.

Article 27. Issued and Declared Stock of a Company

1. The charter of a company shall determine the quantity and face value of the shares acquired by shareholders (floated shares) and the rights conferred by these shares. Shares acquired or bought back by the company and also shares of the company of which ownership has come to the company under Article 34 of the present Federal Law shall be deemed floated until their redemption.

The charter of a company may determine the quantity, face value, categories (types) of the shares the company is entitled to float in addition to the floated shares (announced shares) and the rights conferred by these shares. If the charter of a company lacks such provisions the company shall not be entitled to float additional shares.

The charter of a company may set out the procedure and terms for the company to float announced shares.

2. A decision concerning the introduction of amendments and addenda to the charter of a company with respect to the provisions provided for by the present Article concerning declared stock of a company except for changes relating to a decrease in their numbers according to the results of additional share floatation, shall be adopted at a general meeting of the shareholders.

If a company issues securities converted into stock of a specified category (or type), then the quantity of declared stock of such category (or type) may not be less than the quantity required for converting during the period of circulation of such securities.

A company shall have no right to adopt a decision concerning the change of rights granted by stock in which securities issued by the company have been converted.

Article 28. Increasing the Authorised Capital of a Company

1. The authorised capital of a company may be increased by means of increasing the face value of shares or floating additional shares.

2. The decision to increase the authorised capital of a company by means of increasing the face value of shares shall be adopted by a general meeting of the shareholders.

The decision to increase the authorised capital of a company by means of floating additional shares shall be adopted by a general meeting of the shareholders or the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company if it has the right to make such a decision under the charter of the company.

The decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company to increase the authorised capital of the company by means of floating additional shares shall be adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company unanimously by all the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, with the votes of former members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company not being counted.

3. Additional shares may be floated by the company only within the maximum limit of announced shares set by the charter of the company. The decision to increase the authorised capital of a company by means of floating additional shares may be made by a general meeting of the shareholders simultaneously with the introduction of an addendum to the charter of the company in the form of an announced shares clause as required under the present Federal Law for the adoption of such a decision or in the form of an amendment to the announced shares clause.

4. The decision to increase the authorised capital of a company by means of floating additional shares shall determine the number of additionally floated ordinary shares and preferred shares of each type within the maximum limit on the number of announced shares of the category (type), the floatation method, the price of floatation of additional shares floated by means of subscription or the procedure for determining it, in particular, the price of floatation or the procedure for determining the price of floatation of additional shares to persons who have a priority right to acquire floated shares, the form of payment for the additional shares floated by subscription and also other floatation terms.

5. An increase in the authorised capital of a company by means of floating additional shares may be implemented at the expense of the assets of the company. An increase in the authorised capital of a company by means of increasing the face value of shares shall be implemented only at the expense of the assets of the company.

The amount whereby a company's authorised capital is being increased at the expense of the company's assets shall not exceed the difference between the company's net asset value and the sum of the authorised capital and the reserve fund of the company.

Where the authorised capital of a company is being increased at the expense of its assets by means of floating additional shares these shares shall be distributed among all shareholders. In so doing, each of the shareholders shall receive shares of the same category (type) as the shares he/she owns, in proportion to the number of the shares he/she owns. An increase in the authorised capital of a company at the expense of its assets by means of floating additional shares resulting in the formation of fractional shares is prohibited.

6. An increase in the authorised capital of a company established in the course of privatisation by means of issuing additional shares provided that there is a block of shares representing over 25 per cent of votes in the general meeting of shareholders, which is in state or municipal ownership, may be only effected if, in the event of such an increase, the share of the State or of the municipal entity is retained and if not otherwise stipulated by Federal Law No. 178-FZ of December 21, 2001 on Privatisation of State and Municipal Property."

Article 29. Decrease of Charter Capital of a Company

1. The company has the right to reduce its authorised capital and in the cases stipulated in the present Federal Law it shall do so.

The authorised capital of a company may be reduced by means of cutting the face value of shares or the number of shares, in particular, by means of acquiring a portion of the shares in the events stipulated by the present Federal Law.

A reduction in the authorised capital of a company by means of acquisition and redemption of some of the shares is allowed if such an option is envisaged by the charter of the company.

The company shall not be entitled to reduce its authorised capital if this is going to result in an authorised capital amount below the minimum level set in keeping with the present Federal Law as of the date when documents are filed for the purposes of state registration of relevant amendments to the charter of the company and in events when under the present Federal Law the company must reduce its authorised capital, as of the date of the state registration of the company.

2. A decision to decrease the charter capital of a company by decreasing the par value of stock or by redeeming stock for the purpose of reducing its total quantity shall be adopted by the general meeting of shareholders.

3. The decision on decreasing a company's authorised capital by way of reducing the nominal value of stocks thereof may provide for paying monetary funds to all company's stockholders and (or) for transferring thereto the emissive securities possessed by the company which are floated by another legal entity. With this, the decision must determine the following:

rate of decrease of the company's authorised capital; categories (types) of the stocks whose nominal value is to be reduced and rate of reduction of the nominal value of each stock;

nominal value of a stock of each category (type) after reduction thereof; amount of monetary funds to be paid to the company's stockholders in the event of reduction of the nominal value of each stock and (or) number, kind, category (type) of the emissive securities to be passed over to the company's stockholders in the event of reduction of the nominal value of each stock.

The decision to decrease the authorised capital of a company by reducing the nominal value of the company's stocks shall be rendered by a general meeting of the company's stockholders by a three quarters majority of votes of the stockholders possessing voting stocks, who are attending the general meeting of the company's shareholders, solely on the proposal of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board).

The decision to decrease the authorised capital of a company by way of reducing the nominal value of the company's stocks and to pass over emissive securities to stockholders thereof must provide for passing over to each company's stockholder emissive securities of the same category (type) which are issued by the same issuer and which are shown as a whole number in proportion to the amount of reduction of the nominal value of the stocks possessed by a stockholder. If the said requirement cannot be fulfilled, the decision of a general meeting of shareholders rendered in compliance with this Item shall not be subject to execution. If the emissive securities acquired in compliance with this Item by a company's stockholders are stocks of another company, the decision on decreasing the company's authorised capital rendered in compliance with this Item may take into account, for the purpose of fulfilling the said requirement, the results of consolidation or splitting of stocks of another company not effected at the time of rendering this decision. The ratio of the amount of decrease of a company's authorised capital to the amount of the company's authorised capital prior to decrease thereof may not be less than the ratio of the monetary funds received by the company's stockholders and (or) the aggregate value of the emissive securities acquired by the company's stockholders to the company's net wealth. The value of the emissive securities possessed by the company and the company's net wealth shall be determined on the basis of the company's business accounting data as of the reporting date for the last quarter preceding the quarter when the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) decided to call the general meeting of the company's shareholders whose agenda contained the item of decreasing the company's authorised capital.

The documents for the state registration of amendments and addenda to be made to a company's charter and connected with a decrease of the authorised capital thereof in compliance with the rules of this Item shall be submitted by the company to the body engaged in the state registration of legal entities at the earliest in 90 days as of the time of rendering a decision on decreasing the company's authorised capital.

A list of the persons authorised to receive monetary funds and (or) the emissive securities, acquired by the company's stockholders on the basis of the decision on reduction of the nominal value of stocks, shall be composed as of the date of the state registration of the amendments and addenda to be made to the company's charter, which are connected with the decrease of its authorised capital. If the decision on decreasing a company's authorised capital is rendered subject to the results of consolidation or splitting of stocks of another company, a list of the persons entitled to receive monetary funds and (or) stocks of another company to be acquired by the company's stockholders in compliance with this Item shall be composed as of the date of the state registration of the report on the results of issuing the stocks of another company to be floated in the event of consolidation or splitting. The decision on consolidation or splitting of another company's stocks and the decision on decreasing the company's authorised capital may be rendered simultaneously. To compose the said list of persons the nominal holder of stocks shall present data on the persons in whose interests he has the stocks in his possession.

4. A company shall not be entitled to render a decision on decreasing the authorised capital in compliance with the rules of Item 3 of this Article in the following cases:

prior to the time of complete payment for the total authorised capital thereof;

prior to the time of paying off all the stocks which must be paid off in compliance with Article 75 of this Federal Law;

if on the date of rendering such decision it has the signs of insolvency (bankruptcy) in compliance with the legislation of the Russian Federation on insolvency (bankruptcy) or if it is to have the above signs as a result of paying the monetary funds and (or) alienation of the emissive securities effected in compliance with the rules of Item 3 of this Article;

if on the date of rendering such decision its net wealth is less than the sum of its authorised capital, reserve fund and the excess of the liquidation value of floated preferred shares, determined by the company's charter, over the nominal value thereof or is to become less than the sum of the authorised capital, reserve fund and the excess of the liquidation value of floated preferred shares, determined by the company's charter, over the nominal value thereof as a result of paying the monetary funds and (or) alienation of the emissive securities effected in compliance with the rules of Item 3 of this Article.

prior to the time of full payment of the dividends which are declared but not paid, including non-paid accumulated dividends on cumulative preference stocks;

in other cases provided for by the federal laws.

5. A company shall not be entitled to pay monetary funds and (or) alienate emissive securities in compliance with the rules of Item 3 of this Article in the following cases:

if on the date payment it has the signs of insolvency (bankruptcy) in compliance with the legislation of the Russian Federation on insolvency (bankruptcy) or if it is to have the above signs as a result of paying the monetary funds and (or) alienating the emissive securities in compliance with the rules of Item 3 of this Article;

if on the date of payment its net wealth is less than the sum of its authorised capital, reserve fund and the excess of the liquidation value of floated preferred shares, determined by the company's charter, over the nominal value thereof or is to become less than the sum of the authorised capital, reserve fund and the excess of the liquidation value of floated preferred shares, determined by the company's charter, over the nominal value thereof as a result of paying the monetary funds and (or) alienating the emissive securities effected in compliance with the rules of Item 3 of this Article.

in other cases provided for by the federal laws.

Upon termination of the circumstances specified by Paragraphs 2-4 of this Item, a company shall be obliged to pay to the company's stockholders the monetary funds and (or) transfer to them the emissive securities.

Article 30. Notifying Creditors of a Cut in the Authorised Capital of a Company

1. Within 30 days after the date of a decision whereby the company's authorised capital is reduced the company shall notify its creditors about the authorised capital cut and new authorised capital size in writing and also publish an announcement about the decision so made in a printed journal intended for the publication of information on the state registration of legal entities. In such a case the creditors of the company shall be entitled to demand in writing the termination or discharge of relevant obligations of the company before due and reimbursement of losses, within 30 days after the date when the notice was forwarded to them or within 30 days after the date of publication of the announcement of the decision.

2. The state registration of amendments to the charter of a company relating to a cut in its authorised capital shall be effected if there is a proof of the creditors having been notified in compliance with the procedure established by the present article.

Article 31. Rights of Holders of Common Stock of a Company

1. Each share of common stock shall grant equal rights to its holder.
2. Holders of common stock of a company may in accordance with this Federal Law and the charter of the company participate in general meetings of shareholders with the right to vote on all matters within its authority. They also have the right to receive dividends, and in instances of the liquidation of the company, the right to receive some of its assets.
3. The conversion of ordinary shares into preferred shares, bonds and other securities is prohibited.

Article 32. Rights of Holders of Preferred Stock of a Company

1. Holders of preferred stock of a company shall have no right to vote at a general meeting of shareholders, unless otherwise provided for by this Federal Law.

Preferred stock of the company of one type shall grant equal rights to its holders and shall have equal par values.

2. The amount of dividend and/or value to be paid for preferred stock of each type in the event of the liquidation of a company (liquidation value) must be set out in the charter. The amount of dividends and the liquidation value shall be set at a fixed monetary amount or as a percentage of the par value of the preferred stock. The amount of the dividend and the liquidation value for preferred stock shall be considered to be determined also if the procedure for determining them has been established by the charter of the company. The holders of preferred stock for which the dividend amount has not been determined shall have the right to receive dividends equal to the holders of common stock.

If the charter of the company has a provision for preferred shares of two or more types, with a dividend rate being set for each of them, the company's charter shall also establish a dividend disbursement priority rating for each of them, and if the charter of the company has a provision for preferred shares of two and more types in respect of which a liquidation value is set, it shall establish a liquidation value disbursement priority ranking for each of them.

The charter of a company may establish that a dividend which has been disbursed or has been partially disbursed on preferred shares of a specific type, with the rate thereof being set by the charter, shall be accumulated and disbursed within a term determined by the charter (cumulative preferred shares). If no such term is set by the charter of the company preferred shares shall not be deemed cumulative.

3. The charter of a company may have a provision for the conversion of preferred shares of a specific type into ordinary shares or into preferred shares of other types at the request of the shareholders who own them or conversion of all shares of the type within a term set by the charter of the company. In such a case the charter of the company as of the time when the decision is made, which is the grounds for floating the converted preferred shares, shall set out a procedure for their conversion, in particular, the quantity, category (type) of the shares into which they are converted and other conversion terms. It is prohibited to amend the said provisions of the charter of the company after the decision is made to float converted preferred shares.

The conversion of preferred shares into bonds and other securities, except for shares, is prohibited. The conversion of preferred shares into ordinary shares and into preferred shares of other types is allowed only if it is envisaged by the charter of the company or in the event of a re-organisation of the company under the present Federal Law.

4. Shareholders owning preferred shares shall attend the general meeting of shareholders with a right to vote when the issues of company re-organisation and liquidation are decided.

Shareholders owning preferred shares of a specific type shall acquire voting rights when the general meeting of shareholders decides issue of amending the charter of the company in a way that imposes a limit on the rights of the shareholders owning preferred shares of this type including cases when a dividend rate is set or increased and/or a liquidation value is set or increased, such a dividend or value being disbursement on the preferred shares of preceding priority ranking and also the provision of shareholders owning preferred shares of another type with an advantage in terms of dividend and/or share liquidation value disbursement priority ranking. The decision whereby such amendments are introduced shall be deemed adopted if supported by at least three quarters of the votes of the shareholders owning voting shares who attend the general meeting of shareholders, except for the votes of shareholders owning preferred shares with limited rights, and three quarters of the votes of all shareholders owning preferred shares of each type with limited rights, unless a larger number of shareholder votes is established by the charter of the company for the adoption of such a decision.

5. Holders of preferred stock of a specified type, the amount of dividend for which has been determined in the charter of the company, (but not holders of cumulative preferred stock), shall have the right to participate in a general meeting of shareholders with the right to vote in regard to all matters within its authority, beginning with the meeting following the annual general meeting of shareholders at which a meeting of shareholders at which decision was not adopted concerning the payment of dividends for preferred stock of such type. The right of holders of preferred stock of such a type to participate in the general meeting of shareholders shall terminate as of the first payment in full of dividends for such stock.

Holders of cumulative preferred stock of a specified type shall have the right to participate in a general meeting of shareholders with the right to vote on all matters of its authority, beginning with the meeting following the annual general meeting of shareholders at which a decision should have been adopted concerning the payment of accumulated dividends in full for such stock, if such decision was not adopted, or a decision was adopted concerning the payment of dividends, but not in full. The right of holders of cumulative preferred stock of a specified type to participate in the general meeting of shareholders shall terminate upon the payment of all dividends accumulated, in full, with regard to such stock.

Article 33. Bonds and Other Issue Securities of a Company

1. A company shall have the right to issue bonds and other issue securities provided for by the laws of the Russian Federation on securities.

2. The issuance by a company of bonds and other issue securities shall be carried out by decision of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company, unless otherwise provided for by the charter of the company.

The floatation of bonds convertible into shares and other securities convertible into shares by a company shall be effected by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders or by the decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company if under the charter of the company it has the right to make a decision concerning floatation of bonds convertible into shares and other issued securities convertible into shares.

A decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company on the floatation by the company of bonds convertible into shares and of other serial securities convertible into shares shall be adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company unanimously by all members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, with the votes of former members of the company's board of directors (supervisory board) not being taken into account.

3. A bond shall certify the right of its holder to demand the cancellation of the bond (or payment of par value or par value and interest) within the established periods.

The form, periods, and other conditions for cancellation of the bonds must be determined in the decision on the issuance of the bonds.

Issuance of bonds by a company shall be allowable after paying in full for the authorized capital thereof. A bond must have the nominal value thereof. The nominal value of all bonds issued by a company must not exceed the amount of the company's authorized capital and (or) the amount of the security provided for this purpose to the company by third persons. In the absence of the security provided by third persons, bonds' issuance shall be allowed at earliest on the third year of the jointstock company's existence and on condition of proper endorsement of the company's annual balance sheets for the last two complete financial years. The said restrictions shall not apply to issues of mortgagecovered bonds and in other cases established by the laws on securities.

A company may float bonds with a single period for repayment or bonds with a repayment period by series, within specified periods.

The repayment of bonds may be carried out in cash or with other property, in accordance with the decision concerning their issuance.

A company shall have the right to float bonds secured by the pledge of specified property of the company or bonds under security granted to the company for the purpose of issuing of the bonds by third persons, and bonds without security.

Bonds may be inscribed or bearer. In the event of the issuance of inscribed bonds, a company shall be obliged to keep a register of their holders. Lost inscribed bonds shall be reinstated by the company for a reasonable payment. The rights of a holder of a lost bearer bond shall be reinstated by a court ruling, according to the procedure established by the procedural code of the Russian Federation.

A company shall have the right to envisage the possibility of cancelling bonds at an earlier date, at the wish of the holders thereof. In such a case, the value of the cancellation and the earliest date they may be cancelled must be specified in the decision concerning the issuance of the bonds.

4. A company shall have no right to issue bonds and other issue securities convertible into stock of the company, if the number of declared stock of the company of specified categories and types is less than the number of stock of such categories and types, the right to acquire which such securities grant.

Article 34. Payment for the Shares and Other Issue Securities of a Company at the Floatation Thereof

1. The shares of a company floated at the formation of the company shall be paid for in full within one year after the time of the state registration of the company, unless a shorter term is stipulated by the memorandum of association of the company.

At least 50 per cent of the company's shares distributed at the formation thereof shall be paid up within three months after the state registration of the company.

A share owned by a founder of the company shall not confer voting rights unless and until it is paid up in full, except as otherwise laid down in the charter of the company.

If shares are not paid up in full within the term specified by Paragraph 1 of the present item the right of ownership of the shares with floatation price corresponding to the outstanding amount (the value of assets not transferred in payment for shares) shall be transferred to the company. The memorandum of association may envisage the collection of forfeit money (fine, penalty) for a default on the obligation to pay for the shares.

The shares whose ownership has been transferred to the company shall not confer voting rights, shall not be counted during voting and shall not bear dividends. If that is the case, the company within one year as of the date of their acquisition shall be obliged to render a decision on decreasing its authorised capital or, for the purpose of paying for the authorised capital, to sell the acquired stock at a price not lower than their market value on the basis of a decision of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board). If the market value of the stocks is less than their nominal value, these stocks must be sold at the price which is not lower than their nominal value. If the stocks are not sold by a company within one year after their acquisition, the company shall be obliged within a reasonable time period to render a decision on decreasing its authorised capital by way of paying off such stocks. If a company does not render a decision on decreasing its authorised capital within the time period provided for by this Article, the body engaged in the state registration of legal entities, other state bodies or local authorities authorised to raise such claim by the federal laws, shall be entitled to make a claim with court for liquidation of the company.

A company's additional shares and other issue securities supposed to be floated by subscription shall be floated if they have been paid up in full.

2. Payment for the shares distributed among the founders of the company at the formation thereof, additional shares floated by subscription may be effected in money, securities, other assets or property rights or other rights that can be appraised in terms of money. The form of payment for shares of a company at the formation thereof shall be set out in the memorandum of association and that for additional shares by the decision under which they are floated. Payment for other issue securities may be effected only in money.

The charter of a company may contain restrictions on the types of assets in which payment can be made for the company's shares.

3. The monetary valuation of assets contributed in payment for shares at the formation of a company shall be completed by agreement of the founders.

When payment for additional shares is effected in non-monetary form the monetary valuation of the assets contributed in payment for the shares shall be done by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company under Article 77 of the present Federal Law.

When payment for shares is effected in non-monetary form an independent appraiser shall be invited to assess the market value of such assets, if not otherwise established by federal laws. The valuation of assets in terms of money produced by the founders of the company and the board of directors of the company shall not exceed the valuation produced by an independent appraiser.

Article 35. Funds and Net Assets of a Company

1. A reserve fund in the amount provided for by the charter of the company, but not less than 5 per cent of its charter capital, shall be created in the company.

The company reserve fund shall be formed by means of obligatory annual deductions until the attainment of the amount established by the charter of the company. The amount of annual deductions shall be provided for by the charter of the company, but may not be less than 5 per cent of net profit until the attainment of the amount established by the charter of the company.

The company reserve fund shall be earmarked for the covering of its losses, and also for the cancellation of bonds of the company and the purchase of stock of the company in the event of the absence of other means.

The reserve fund may not be used for other purposes.

2. The company charter may provide for the formation from net profit of a special fund for the workers of the company. The assets thereof shall be spent exclusively for the acquisition of company stock sold by its shareholders, for subsequent issuing to its workers.

When shares acquired on the account of a company's workers' share distribution fund are provided to employees of the company for a consideration the proceeds shall be allocated towards the maintenance of said fund.

3. The company's net assets shall be valued according to the bookkeeping records, according to the procedure established by the Ministry of Finance and the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

4. If, at the end of such evaluation, and each subsequent financial year in accordance with the annual bookkeeping balance sheet proposed for approval to the shareholders of the company or the results of an auditor, verification, the value of net assets of the company proves to be less than its charter capital, then the company shall decrease its charter capital to an amount not exceeding the value of its net assets.

5. If, at the end of the second and each subsequent financial year, in accordance with the annual bookkeeping balance sheet proposed for approval to the shareholders of the company or the results of an auditor's verification, the value of net assets of the company proves to be less than the amount of the minimum charter capital specified in Article 26 of this Federal Law, then the company shall be obliged to adopt a decision concerning its liquidation.

6. If, in the cases stipulated by Items 4 and 5 of the present article, the company within a reasonable term fails to make a decision to reduce its authorised capital or to liquidate the creditors shall be entitled to claim the termination or discharge before due time of the company's obligations and the reimbursement of losses. In these cases the body responsible for the state registration of legal entities or other governmental bodies or local government bodies which have a right to present such a claim under a federal law shall be entitled to file a petition with court claiming the liquidation of the company.

7. A company's board of directors (or supervisory board) shall be entitled to propose to a general meeting of shareholders thereof to decrease the company's authorised capital to the amount which is less than its net wealth, if the results of an audit inspection has shown that the company's net wealth is less than its authorised capital. In this case, a decision of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) on such proposal must be unanimously adopted by all members of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board). With this, the votes of dropped-out members of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) shall not be taken into account. The company shall be obliged to decrease the authorised capital within a reasonable time period after rendering by a general meeting of the company's shareholders a decision to decrease the authorised capital by a three quarters majority vote of the shareholders thereof possessing voting stocks which are attending the general meeting of stockholders.

8. If in the case provided for by Item 7 of this Article, a company within a reasonable time period does not decrease its authorised capital, the body engaged in the state registration of legal entities, other state bodies or local authorities authorised to raise claims for obliging the company to decrease the amount of its authorised capital, shall be entitled to make such claim with court.

Chapter IV. Issuance by a Company of Stock and Other Issue Securities

Article 36. The Floatation Price of a Company's Shares

1. Payment for the shares of a company at the formation thereof shall be effected by the founders of the company at a price not below the face value of the shares.

Payment for the additional shares of a company floated by subscription shall be effected at a price set by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company under Article 77 of the present Federal Law but not below their face value.

2. The floatation price of additional shares to persons exercising a priority right to acquire shares, may be below the floatation price for other persons but by up to 10 per cent only.

The fee of a broker taking part in the floatation of additional shares of a company by subscription shall not exceed 10 per cent of the floatation price of the shares.

Article 37. Procedure for Converting Company's Issue Securities into Shares

1. The procedure for converting a company's issue securities into shares shall be established: by the charter of the company: in respect of preferred share conversion;
by a decision on issuance: in respect of conversion of bonds and other issue securities, except for shares.

The floatation of shares of a company within the maximum limit on the number of announced shares required for conversion of the convertible shares floated by the company and other issue securities of the company shall be effected only by means of such a conversion.

2. The terms of and procedure for the conversion of shares and other issue securities of a company at the re-organisation thereof shall be established by relevant decisions and agreements in keeping with the present Federal Law.

Article 38. The Floatation Price of Issue Securities

1. Payment for a company's issue securities floated by subscription shall be effected at a price set by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company under Article 77 of the present Federal Law. In such a case payment for issue securities converted into shares floated by subscription shall be effected at a price at least equal to the face value of the shares into which these securities are converted.

2. The floatation price of securities converted into shares to persons exercising a priority right to acquire such shares, may be below the floatation price for other persons only but by up to 10 per cent.

The fee of a broker taking part in the floatation of issue securities by subscription shall not exceed 10 per cent of the floatation price of these securities.

Article 39. The Methods Whereby a Company Floats Its Shares and Other Issue Securities

1. The company is entitled to float additional shares and other issue securities by subscription and by conversion. If the authorised capital of a company is increased at the expense of its assets the company shall float additional shares by means of distributing them among its shareholders.

2. An open company is entitled to float its shares and issue securities convertible into shares by means of either open or closed subscription. The charter of the company and legal acts of the Russian Federation may restrict closed subscription opportunities for open companies.

A closed company is not entitled to float its shares and issue securities convertible into shares by public subscription or otherwise offer them for acquisition to an unlimited circle of people.

3. The floatation of shares (a company's issue securities convertible into shares) by closed subscription shall be effected only by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders whereby the authorised capital of the company is increased by means of floating additional shares (whereby the company's issue securities convertible into shares are floated), such a decision having been adopted by the majority of three quarters of votes of the shareholders owning voting shares and attending the general meeting of shareholders, unless a larger number of votes is required for such a decision by the charter of the company.

4. The floatation by public subscription of ordinary shares making up over 25 per cent of the ordinary shares floated earlier shall be effected only by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders adopted by a majority of three quarters of the votes of shareholders owning voting shares and attending the general meeting of shareholders, unless a larger number of votes is required to adopt such a decision by the charter of the company.

The floatation by public subscription of issue securities convertible into ordinary shares making up 25 per cent of the ordinary shares floated earlier where such issue securities are being converted into ordinary shares shall be effected only by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders adopted by a majority of three quarters of the votes of shareholders owning voting shares and attending the general meeting of shareholders, unless a larger number of votes is required to adopt such a decision by the charter of the company.

5. The floatation of a company's shares and other issue securities shall be effected by the company in compliance with the legal acts of the Russian Federation

Article 40. Safeguarding Shareholders' Rights in the Event of Floatation of Company's Shares and Issue Securities Convertible into Shares

1. The shareholders of a company shall have a priority right to acquire additional shares and issue securities convertible into shares, floated by public subscription, in proportion to the number of the shares of this category (type) they own.

A company's shareholders who voted against, or who did not take part in voting on the issue of, closed-subscription floating of shares and issue securities convertible into shares shall have a priority right to acquire additional shares and issue securities convertible into shares floated by closed subscription, in proportion to the number of the shares of this category (type) they own. This right shall not extend to the floatation of shares and other issue securities convertible into shares effected by closed subscription only among the shareholders if in this case the shareholders have an opportunity to acquire an integral number of floated shares and other issue securities convertible into shares, in proportion to the number of the shares of relevant category (type) they own.

The present item does not extend to companies having a single shareholder.

2. If the decision deemed a ground for floating supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares it adopted by a general meeting of the company's shareholders a list of the persons having a priority right to acquire the supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares shall be drawn up on the basis of the information available in the register of shareholders as of the date of compilation of the list of the persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders. In other cases a list of the persons having a priority right to acquire the supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares shall be drawn up on the basis of the information available in the register of shareholders as of the date of the decision deemed the ground for floating the supplementary shares and the serial securities convertible into shares. For the purpose of drawing up the list of the persons having a priority right to acquire the supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares the nominal holder of shares shall provide information on the persons for whose interests the nominal holder holds the shares.

Article 41. Procedure for Exercising a Priority Right to Acquire Shares and Serial Securities Convertible into Shares

1. The persons having a priority right to acquire supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares shall be notified of their having an opportunity for exercising the priority right envisaged by Article 40 of the present Federal Law in the procedure envisaged by the present federal law for an announcement about a general meeting of shareholders.

The notification shall contain information on the number of floated shares and serial securities convertible into shares, their floatation price or the procedure for determining the floatation price (including information on their floatation price or on the procedure for determining the floatation price as the priority right of acquisition is exercised), the procedure for assessing the number of securities each person having a right of acquiring them is entitled to acquire, the procedure for filing such persons' applications for acquisition of shares and serial securities convertible into shares with the company, and the term for filing such applications with the company (hereinafter referred to as "the effective term of a priority right").

2. The effective term of a priority right shall not be less than 45 days after the time of sending (delivery) or publication of the notice, except as another term is envisaged by the present item.

If the procedure for determining the floatation price established by the decision deemed the ground for floating supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares requires that the floatation price be determined after the expiry of the effective term of the priority right such a term shall not be less than 20 days after the time of sending (delivery) or publication of a notice. In this case the notice shall contain information on the term for payment for the securities, this term not being less than five working days after the disclosure of information on floatation price.

3. A person having a priority right to acquire supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares is entitled to exercise his priority right in full or in part by means of filing an application in writing with the company for acquisition of the shares and serial securities convertible into shares. The application shall contain the name of the person that has filed it, a reference to the person's whereabouts and the number of securities he/she/it acquires.

A document on payment shall be attached to the application for acquisition of shares and serial securities convertible into shares, except for the case envisaged by Paragraph 2 of Item 2 of the present article.

If the decision deemed the ground for floatation of supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares has a provision for payment for them being made with non-monetary resources then the persons that exercise a priority right to acquire such securities are entitled at their own discretion to make payment for them with money.

4. Until the expiry of the effective term of a priority right the company is not entitled to float supplementary shares and serial securities convertible into shares to persons not having a priority right to acquire them.

Chapter V. Dividends

Article 42. Dividend Disbursement Procedure for a Company

1. A company may, as per the results of the first quarter, half-year or nine months of the financial year and/or as per the results of the whole financial year, take decisions on (announce) the payment of dividends on the placed shares, unless otherwise is established by this Federal Law. The decision on the payment (announcement) of dividends as per the results of the first quarter, half year or nine months of the financial year may be taken within three months after the termination of the relevant period.";

2. Dividends shall be payable out of the company's net profit. Dividends on preferred shares of certain types may be disbursed at the expense of company funds specifically intended for such a purpose.

3. The decisions on the payment (announcement) of dividends including the decisions on the rate of the dividend and the form of its payment on the shares of each category (type) shall be taken by a general meeting of shareholders. The rate of dividends may not exceed the one recommended by the board of directors (the supervisory board) of the company.

4. The time and procedure for the payment of dividends shall be determined by the charter of a company or by a decision of the general meeting of shareholders on the payment of dividends. If the charter of a company does not determine the term for the payment of dividends, then the term for their payment must not exceed sixty days from the day of the adoption of the decision on the payment of dividends.

The list of persons having the right to receive dividends shall be drawn up as on the date of the drawing up of the list of persons having the right to participate in the general meeting of shareholders at which the decision is taken on the payment of the relevant dividends. For drawing up the list of persons having the right to receive dividends, the nominal shareholder shall submit the date on the persons in whose interests he owns the shares.

Article 43. Limitations on Payment of Dividends

1. The company shall not be entitled to adopt a decision (to announce) on disbursement of dividends on shares: until the entire charter capital of the company is paid up in full;

until the purchase of all stock which must be purchased in accordance with Article 76 of this Federal Law;

if, as of the date of such a decision, the company meets the criteria of insolvency (bankruptcy) under the legislation of the Russian Federation on insolvency (bankruptcy) or if such is going to occur as a result of the company's disbursing dividends;

if as of the date of such a decision the value of the net assets of the company is less than its charter capital, plus the reserve fund, plus the excess over par value of the liquidation value determined by the charter of the issued preferred stock, or if it becomes less than the amount thereof as a result of the adoption of such a decision;

in the other cases specified in federal law.

2. A company may not take a decision on (announce) the payment of dividends (including dividends as per the results of the first quarter, half-year, or nine months of the financial year) on ordinary shares and preference shares whose rate of dividends has not been determined, if a decision has not been taken on the payment of dividends in full (including accumulated dividends on cumulative preference shares) on all types of preference shares whose rate of dividends (including the dividends as per the results of the first quarter, half-year, or nine months of the financial year) is determined by the charter of the company.

3. The company shall not be entitled to adopt a decision (to announce) as to the disbursement of dividends on preferred shares of a specific type in respect of which a dividend rate was determined by the charter of the company, unless a decision has been made to disburse dividends in full (in particular, to disburse in full all accumulated dividends on cumulative preferred shares) on all types of preferred shares which confer an advantage in terms of priority ranking in receiving dividends over the preferred shares of this type.

4. The company shall not be entitled to disburse announced dividends on shares:

if the company shows signs of insolvency (bankruptcy) as of the date of disbursement under the legislation of the Russian Federation on insolvency (bankruptcy) or if such are going to appear as result of the dividend disbursement;

if the company's net asset value as of the date of disbursement is less than the sum of its authorised capital, reserve fund and the surplus of the liquidation value of floated preferred shares over their face value set in the charter of the company or it is going to be less than said sum as the result of the dividend disbursement;

in the other cases stipulated by federal law.

In the event of termination of the circumstances described in this point the company shall disburse announced dividends for the benefit of shareholders.

Chapter VI. Shareholders Register

Article 44. Register of the Shareholders of a Company

1. A register of the shareholders of a company shall comprise information on each person registered, the quantity and categories (types) of shares recorded in the name of each registered person, other information as might be required under legal acts of the Russian Federation.

2. The company shall ensure the keeping and storing of the register of shareholders in compliance with the legal acts of the Russian Federation from the time of the company's state registration.

3. The register of a company's stockholders may be held by this company or registrar.

The register of shareholders of a company having more than 50 shareholders shall be held by a registrar.

4. A company that has entrusted the keeping and storing of its register of shareholders to a registrar shall not be relieved from responsibility for the keeping and storing thereof.

5. A person registered in the register of shareholders of a company shall promptly notify the holder of the register of shareholders of the company on changes occurring in his details. If he fails to present information on such changes the company and the registrar shall not be responsible for the losses inflicted in connection therewith.

Article 45. Making Entries in the Shareholders Register

1. An entry in the register of a company's shareholders shall be made upon the request of a shareholder, a nominal shareholder or, in the instances provided for by this Federal Law, of other persons at the latest in three days as of the date of submitting the documents stipulated by normative legal acts of the Russian Federation. Normative legal acts of the Russian Federation may establish a shorter time period for making an entry in the register of a company's shareholders.

2. A refusal to make an entry in the shareholders register of a company shall not be permitted, except for in instances provided for by the laws of the Russian Federation. In the event of a refusal to make an entry in the shareholders register of the company, the holder of such register shall not later than five days from the presentation of the demand to make an entry in the shareholders register of the company send to the person demanding the making of the entry a reasoned explanation concerning the refusal to make the entry.

The refusal to make an entry in the shareholders register of a company may be appealed in court. By decision of the court the holder of the shareholders register of a company shall be obliged to make the respective entry in the said register.

Article 46. Extract from the Register of Shareholders

The holder of the shareholders register of a company shall at the demand of a shareholder or proxy holder of stock be obliged to confirm his rights to stock by means of the issuance of an extract from the shareholders register.

Chapter VII. General Meeting of Shareholders

Article 47. The General Meeting of Shareholders

1. The general meeting of shareholders shall be the paramount managerial body of the company. The company shall hold an annual general meeting of shareholders every year.

The annual general meeting of shareholders shall be convened on the dates stipulated by the charter of the company but at least two months after and within six months after the end of the financial year. The annual general meeting of shareholders shall decide the issues of election of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, the company's audit commission, the endorsement of the company's auditor, the issues specified in Subitem 11 Item 1 Article 48 of the present Federal Law and also other issues within the scope of responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders. General meetings of shareholders held apart from the annual general meeting shall be deemed extraordinary.

2. The federal executive body in charge of the securities market may establish other standards governing the procedure for preparing, convening and holding a general meeting of shareholders in addition to those set out in the present Federal Law.

3. In a company where all voting shares are owned by one shareholder decisions on issues relating to the scope of responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders shall be made solely by this shareholder in writing. In this case the provisions of the present chapter governing the procedure and term for preparing, convening and holding a general meeting of shareholders shall not apply, except for the provisions concerning the date of the annual general meeting of shareholders.

Article 48. Authority of the General Meeting of Shareholders

1. The following shall be deemed to be within the scope of scope of responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders:

- 1) amending the constitution of the company or endorsing a new version of the constitution of the company;
- 2) re-organising the company;
- 3) liquidating the company, appointing a liquidation commission and endorsing an interim and the final liquidation balance sheets;
- 4) determining the quantitative composition of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, electing its members and terminating their powers before due date;
- 5) determining the quantity, face value, category (type) of announced shares and the rights conferred by such shares;

6) increasing the authorised capital of the company by means of increasing the face value of shares or floating additional shares, unless the increase of the company's authorised capital by additional share floatation is referred to the scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company by the constitution of the company or the present Federal Law;

7) decreasing the authorised capital of the company by means of cutting the face value of shares, acquiring (by the company) a part of shares for the purpose of cutting their total numbers and also redeeming the shares acquired or bought out by the company;

8) forming the company's executive body, terminating its powers before due time, unless the resolution of these matters is put within the scope of responsibility of the company's board of directors (supervisory board) by the constitution of the company;

9) electing the members of the audit commission (the auditor) of the company and terminating their (his) powers before due time;

10) endorsing an auditor for the company;

10.1) payment (announcement) of dividends as per the results of the first quarter, half-year, or nine months of the financial year;

11) approval of the annual reports and of the annual accounting reporting, including the reports on the profits and losses (accounts of profits and losses) of the company, and also the distribution of profit (including the payment (announcement) of dividends, except profit distributed as dividends as per the results of the first quarter, half-year, or nine months of the financial year) and of the losses of the company as per the results of the financial year;

12) setting out a procedure for holding the general meeting of shareholders;

13) electing the members of counts commission and terminating their powers before due time;

14) fractionalising and consolidating shares;

15) making decision as to the approval of deals in the cases stipulated by Article 83 of the present Federal Law;

16) making decisions as to the approval of large-scale deals in the cases stipulated by Article 79 of the present Federal Law;

17) the company's acquisition of floated shares in the cases stipulated by the present Federal Law;

18) making decisions on having a stake in financial-industrial groups, associations and other unions of commercial organisations;

19) endorsing the in-house documents governing the operation of the company's bodies;

20) resolving other issues under the present Federal Law.

2. The issues put within the scope of responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders shall not be referred to the executive body of the company to be resolved by it.

The issues put within the scope of responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders shall not be referred to the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to be resolved by it, except for the issues specified in the present Federal Law.

3. The general meeting of shareholders shall have no right to consider and adopt decisions with regard to matters not referred to its authority by this Federal Law.

Article 49. Decision of General Meeting of Shareholders

1. With the exception of instances established by federal laws, the following persons shall have the right to vote at a general meeting of shareholders with regard to matters put up for voting:

holders of common stock of the company;

holders of preferred stock of the company in the instances provided for by this Federal Law.

Voting stock of the company shall be common stock or preferred stock granting to the holder thereof the right to vote.

2. The decision of a general meeting of shareholders with regard to a matter put up for voting shall be adopted by a majority vote of the holders of voting stock of the company participating in the meeting, unless a larger number of votes is required by this Federal Law otherwise established.

The counting of votes at a general meeting of shareholders with regard to a matter put up for voting, and the right of vote when deciding who possesses it shall be carried out with regard to all voting stock jointly, unless otherwise provided for by this Federal Law.

3. A decision with regard to the matters specified in Subclauses 2, 6, and 14 through 19 of Clause 1 of Article 48 of this Federal Law shall be adopted by a general meeting of shareholders only upon the proposal of the board of directors (or supervisory board), unless otherwise provided for by the charter of the company.

4. Decision on the issues specified in Subitems 1 - 3, 5 and 17 of Item 1 Article 48 of the present Federal Law shall be adopted by a general meeting of shareholders by the majority of three quarters of the votes of shareholders owning voting shares and attending the general meeting of shareholders.

5. The procedure for the adoption by the general meeting of shareholders of a decision regarding the procedure for conducting the general meeting of shareholders shall be established by the charter of the company or by the internal documents of the company approved by resolution of the general meeting of shareholders.

6. The general meeting of shareholders shall have no right to adopt decisions with regard to matters not included on the agenda of the meeting, nor to change the agenda.

7. A shareholder shall have the right to appeal to a court a decision adopted by the general meeting of shareholders in violation of the requirements of this Federal Law, other laws of the Russian Federation, and the charter of the company, if he did not take part in the general meeting of shareholders or he voted against the adoption of such decision and his rights and legal interests were violated by the said decision. The court shall have the right, taking into account all the circumstances of the case, to leave the decision appealed in force, if the vote of such shareholder could not influence the results of the voting, the violation permitted was not material, and the decision did not injure the particular shareholder. Such an application may be filed with the court within six months after the date when the shareholder learned or was supposed to learn about the decision so made.

8. A decision on each of the issues mentioned in Subitems 2, 6, 7 and 14 of Item 1 of Article 48 of this Federal Law may contain an indication as to the time period upon whose expiry such decision is not subject to execution. The running of the said period shall be terminated as of the time of:

the state registration of one of the companies established by way of a company's re-organisation in form of division - for rendering by a general meeting of shareholders a decision on a company's re-organisation in the form of division; making an entry to the comprehensive state register of legal entities on termination of the acceding company's activities - for rendering a decision by a general meeting of shareholders on a company's re-organisation in the form of accession;

the state registration of a legal entity established by way of a company's re-organisation - for rendering a decision by a general meeting of shareholders on the company's re-organisation on the form of merger, devolution or transformation;

the state registration of an issue (additional issue) of securities - for rendering a decision by a general meeting of shareholders on increasing a company's authorised capital by way of increasing the nominal value of stocks or floating additional stock, a decision by a general meeting of shareholders on decreasing a company's authorised capital by way of reducing the nominal value of stocks or a decision by a general meeting of shareholders on stocks' splitting or consolidation; acquisition of at least one stock - for rendering a decision by a general meeting of shareholders on decreasing a company's authorised capital by way of acquisition by the company of a part of its own stocks for the purpose of reduction of their total number or by way of paying off the stocks acquired or redeemed by the company.

A decision of a general meeting of shareholders on re-organisation of a company in the form of devolution may provide for the time period upon whose expiry such decision is not subject to execution in respect of the company to be established or the companies to be established whose state registration was not effected within this time period. In such case, a company's re-organisation in the form of devolution shall be deemed completed as of the time of the state registration within the period provided for by this Item of the last company from among the companies to be established by way of such re-organisation.

Article 50. The General Meeting of Shareholders in the Form of Postal Voting

1. A decision of the general meeting of shareholders may be adopted by postal voting without holding a meeting (joint attendance of shareholders for the purpose of discussing an agenda and adopting decisions on the matters put up for vote).

2. A general meeting of shareholders of which the agenda includes the issues of election of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, the audit commission of the company, endorsement of an auditor for the company and also the issues specified in Subitem 11 Item 1 Article 48 of the present Federal Law shall not be held by post voting.

Article 51. Right to Participate in a General Meeting of Shareholders

1. The list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders shall be drawn up on the basis of data of the shareholders register of the company. In the event the special right of participation of the Russian Federation, a Russian region or a municipal entity in the management of the company ("golden share") is being exercised the list shall also include representatives of the Russian Federation, the Russian region or the municipal entity.

The date of compilation of the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders shall not be set before the date of the decision to hold a general meeting of shareholders and more than 50 days, or in the case stipulated by Item 2 Article 53 of the present Federal Law, 85 days, prior to the date of a general meeting of shareholders.

If a general meeting of shareholders is conducted in which ballots received by the company in accordance with Paragraph Two of Item 1 of Article 58 of this Federal Law participate in determining the quorum and the voting, then the date of drawing up the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders shall be established not less than 35 days before the date of holding the general meeting of shareholders.

2. The proxy holder of stock shall submit data concerning the persons in whose interests he possesses stock on the date of drawing up the list in order to draw up the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders.

3. The list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders shall contain the name of each such person, its identification details, information on the quantity and category (type) of the shares whereby the person has voting rights, the postal address in the Russian Federation to which a notice of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders, ballot papers if voting requires ballot paper mailing and a report on the results of voting are to be sent.

4. The list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders shall be provided by the company at the request of the persons included in the list and having at least one per cent of votes. In this case the details of the documents and the postal addresses of the persons included in the list shall be provided only on the consent of such persons.

On the application of any person concerned the company shall within three days provide an abstract from the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders comprising information on this person or a statement to the effect that this person is not on the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders.

5. Changes in the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders may be made only in the event of the reinstatement of violated rights of persons not included in said list on the date of its drawing up or the correction of errors permitted when drawing it up.

Article 52. Information on a Forthcoming General Meeting of Shareholders

1. An announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders shall be made at least 20 days prior to the meeting and an announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders having on its agenda the issue of re-organisation of the company, at least 30 days prior to the meeting.

In the cases provided for by Items 2 and 8 of Article 53 of this Federal Law an announcement of a forthcoming extraordinary meeting of shareholders must be made at latest 70 days before the date of its holding.

Within said term the announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders shall be forwarded to each of the persons on the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders, by registered mail, unless another method is specified in the charter of the company for sending this message in writing, or delivered to each of the said persons against their signatures, or if there is a provision to this effect in the charter of the company, published in a printed publication specified by the charter of the company as available to all the shareholders of the company.

The company has the right to additionally notify shareholders of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders via other mass media (television, radio).

2. The following shall be indicated in an announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders:

the full name of the company and its location;

the form of the forthcoming general meeting of shareholders (meeting or postal voting);

the date, place and time of the forthcoming general meeting of shareholders and in the event completed ballot papers can be sent to the company under Item 3 Article 60 of the present Federal Law, the postal address to which they can be mailed, or in the event of the general meeting of shareholders being held in the form of voting, the deadline for receipt of ballot papers and the postal address to which completed ballot papers must be mailed;

the date of compilation of the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders;

the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders;

the procedure for getting familiarised with information (materials) offered in preparation for the general meeting of shareholders and the address (addresses) where one can familiarise oneself with them.

3. The information (materials) that must be presented to persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders in preparation for holding such a meeting shall be as follows: annual financial statements, in particular, an auditor's report, statement of the company's in-house audit commission on the results of verification of annual financial statements, information on nominees to the company's executive bodies, board of directors (supervisory board), in-house audit commission, vote counting commission, draft amendments to the charter of the company or a new version of the charter of the company, draft in-house documents of the company, draft decisions of the general meeting of shareholders and also the information (documents) stipulated by the charter of the company.

A list of additional information (materials) which must be offered to persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders in preparation for a general meeting of shareholders may be established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

The information (materials) envisaged in the present article shall within 20 days, or in the event of a general meeting of shareholders having on its agenda the issue of re-organisation of the company, within 30 days prior to the date of the general meeting of shareholders be available for the persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders so that they can familiarise themselves with them on the premises of the executive body of the company or in other places the addresses of which are indicated in the announcement on the forthcoming general meeting of shareholders. The information (materials) must be made available to the persons attending the general meeting of shareholders, during the meeting.

Where a person entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders so requests the company shall provide copies of the aforesaid documents thereto. The payment charged by the company for these copies shall not exceed the cost thereof.

4. If a person registered in the register of shareholders of a company is the nominal holder of shares the announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders shall be forwarded to the address of the nominal holder of shares if no other postal address is indicated in the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders for mailing an announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders. If an announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders has been forwarded to the nominal holder of shares he shall bring it to the notice of his clients in compliance with the procedure and within a term established by legal acts of the Russian Federation or a contract with a client.

Article 53. Proposals for the Agenda of a General Meeting of Shareholders

1. Shareholders (a shareholder) owning in their aggregate at least two per cent of the voting shares of a company shall be entitled to put issues on the agenda of an annual general meeting of the company and nominate candidates to the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, collective executive body, in-house audit commission and the accounts commission of the company, the number of which cannot exceed the number of members of a relevant body and also a candidate to the position of sole executive body. Such proposals shall be passed to the company within 30 days after the end of the financial year, unless a later deadline is set by the charter of the company.

2. If an agenda proposed for an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders includes the issue of election of members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shareholders (a shareholder) of the company who own in aggregate at least two per cent of the voting shares of the company shall be entitled to propose nominees for election to the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company in a number not exceeding the number of members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company. Such proposals shall be passed to the company at least 30 days prior to the date of the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders, unless a later deadline is set by the charter of the company.

3. A proposal for putting issues on the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders and a proposal concerning nominees shall be filed in writing including indication of the name of the shareholders (shareholder) who file them, the quantity and category (type) of shares they own and the signatures of the shareholders (shareholder).

4. A proposal for putting issues on the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders shall formulate each item being proposed and a proposal concerning nominees shall state the name of each nominee and data of the document certifying his identity (series and (or) number of the document, date and place of its issuance and the body that has issued it), the name of the body to which he/she is proposed for election and also other information on him/her as stipulated by the charter or in-house documents of the company. A proposal for putting issues on the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders may include a proposed decision on each proposed issue.

5. The board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall consider the proposals it receives and decide as to their inclusion in the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders or refusal to include them in such an agenda, within five days after the expiration of the terms specified in Items 1 and 2 of the present article. An issue proposed by shareholders (shareholder) shall be included in the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders and nominees shall be included in the list of nominees for voting in the elections to a relevant body of the company, except for cases when:

the shareholders (shareholder) have failed to observe the terms specified in Items 1 and 2 of the present article;

the shareholder (shareholders) do not own the quantity of the company's voting shares required under Items 1 and 2 of the present article;

the proposal does not comply with the provisions of Items 3 and 4 of the present article;

the issue proposed for inclusion in the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders is beyond its scope of responsibility and/or does not comply with the provisions of the present Federal Law and other legal acts of the Russian Federation.

6. A substantiated decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to refuse the inclusion of a proposed item in the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders or a nominee in the list of nominees for voting on the elections to a certain body of the company shall be forwarded to the shareholders (shareholder) who made the proposal or put forward the nominee, within three days after the date of the decision.

A decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to refuse the inclusion of an issue in the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders or a nominee in a list of nominees for voting in the election to a certain body of the company and also the evasion by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company of decision-making shall be subject to court appeal.

7. The board of directors (supervisory board) of a company shall not be entitled to amend the wording of issues proposed for the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders and the wording of decisions on such issues.

Apart from issues proposed for inclusion in the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders by shareholders and also in the event of lack of such proposals, the lack or insufficient number of nominees proposed by shareholders in respect of a certain body the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall be entitled to put issues in the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders or nominees in a list of nominees at their own discretion.

8. If the supposed agenda of a general meeting of shareholders contains the item of a company's re-organisation in the form of merger, devolution or division and the item of election of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of a company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of merger, devolution or division, the stockholder or stockholders possessing on aggregate at least 2 per cent of voting stock of the company to be re-organised, shall be entitled to nominate candidates for members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established, of its collective executive body and the inspection commission or a candidate for the inspector whose number may not exceed the quantitative composition of the appropriate body specified by an announcement of a general meeting of the company's shareholders in compliance with a draft charter of the company to be established, as well as to nominate a candidate for the office of the personal executive body of the company to be established.

If the supposed agenda of a general meeting of shareholders contains the item of a company's re-organisation in the form of merger, the stockholder or stockholders possessing on aggregate at least 2 per cent of voting stocks of the company to be re-organised, shall be entitled to nominate candidates for election to the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established in the form of re-organisation in the form of merger, whose number may not exceed that of the members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be established elected by the appropriate company, which is specified by an announcement of a general meeting of the company's shareholders in compliance with the contract of merger.

Proposals as to the nomination of candidates must come to the company to be re-organised at latest 45 days before the date of holding a general meeting of shareholders of the company to be re-organised.

A decision on the inclusion of the persons nominated as candidates by stockholders or by the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised into the list of members of the collective executive body or the inspection commission, or a decision on endorsing the inspector and on endorsing the person exercising the functions of the personal executive body of each company to be established by way of re-organisation in the form of merger, division or devolution shall be rendered by a three quarters majority of votes of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company to be re-organised. With this, the votes of dropped-out members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of this company shall not be taken into account.

Article 54. Preparation for Holding a General Meeting of Shareholders

1. While preparing for a general meeting of shareholders the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company shall determine the following:

the form of the general meeting of shareholders (a meeting or postal voting);

the date, place, time of the forthcoming general meeting of shareholders and if completed ballot papers may be sent to the company under Item 3 Article 60 of the present Federal Law, a postal address to which completed ballot papers can be mailed, or in the case when the general meeting of shareholders is done by postal voting, the deadline for receipt of ballot papers and a postal address to which completed ballot papers must be sent;

the date when the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders is drawn up;

the agenda of the general meeting of shareholders;

the procedure for informing shareholders of the forthcoming general meeting of shareholders;

a list of information (materials) to be offered to shareholders in preparation for the forthcoming general meeting of shareholders and the procedure for the provision thereof;

the form and text of a ballot paper if voting is going to be done using ballot papers.

2. The agenda of a general meeting of shareholders shall by all means include the issues of election of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, in-house audit commission of the company, endorsement of an auditor for the company and also the issues specified in Subitem 11 Item 1 Article 48 of the present Federal Law.

Article 55. Extraordinary General Meetings of Shareholders

1. An extraordinary general meeting of shareholders shall be convened by the decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company on its own initiative, at the request of the in-house audit commission, an auditor for the company or shareholders (shareholder) who own at least ten per cent of the voting shares of the company as of the date of the request.

The convocation of a general meeting of shareholders at the request of the in-house audit commission of the company, an auditor of the company or shareholders (shareholder) owning at least ten per cent of the voting shares of the company shall be effected by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company. In the event that the functions of the board of directors (supervisory council) of the company are performed by a general meeting of shareholders, the calling of a special general meeting of shareholders at the request of the indicated persons shall be carried out by the person or body of the company whose competence, under the statute of the company, is to decide on holding a general meeting of shareholders and on approving its agenda.

2. An extraordinary general meeting of shareholders convened on the request of the in-house audit commission of the company, an auditor of the company or shareholders (shareholder) owning at least ten per cent of the voting shares of the company shall be held within 40 days after the filing of a request for convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders.

If the agenda proposed for the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders includes the issue of election of members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company such a general meeting of shareholders shall be convened within 70 days after the filing of the request for convocation of a general meeting of shareholders, unless a shorter term is required by the charter of the company.

3. In cases when under Articles 68 - 70 of the present Federal Law the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company must make a decision to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders such a general meeting of shareholders shall be convened within 40 days after the date when the decision to convene it was adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, unless a shorter term is envisaged by the charter of the company.

In cases when under the present Federal Law the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company must make a decision to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders for the purpose of electing members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company such a general meeting of shareholders shall be convened within 90 days after the date when the decision to convene it was adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, unless a shorter term is envisaged by the charter of the company.

4. The request for convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders shall include issues to be put on the agenda thereof. The request for convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders may include the wording of decisions on each of such issues and also a proposal for the form of the general meeting of shareholders. If the request for convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders contains a proposal concerning nominees such a proposal shall be subject to the relevant provisions of Article 53 of the present Federal Law.

The board of directors (supervisory board) of a company is not entitled to amend the wording of agenda items or decisions on such items or to change the proposed form of holding the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders convened at the request of the in-house audit commission, an auditor of the company or shareholders (shareholder) owning at least ten per cent of the voting shares of the company.

5. If the request for convening an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders has been initiated by shareholders (shareholder) it shall contain the names of the shareholders (shareholder) which demand the convocation of such a general meeting of shareholders and an indication of the quantity, category (type) of the shares they own.

The request for convening an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders shall be signed by the persons (person) requesting the convocation of the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders.

6. Within five days after the date when a request for convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders was filed by the in-house audit commission of the company, an auditor of the company or shareholders (shareholder) owning at least ten per cent of the voting shares of the company, the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall adopt a decision to convene the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders or to refuse to convene it.

The decision to refuse to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders at the request of the in-house audit commission of a company, an auditor for the company or shareholders (shareholder) owning at least ten per cent of the voting shares of the company may be adopted if:

the procedure established by the present Article and/or Item 1 of Article 84.3 of this Federal Law for filing a request for convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders has not been observed; the shareholders (shareholder) requesting the convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders do not own the quantity of the company's voting shares required by Item 1 of the present article;

none of the issues proposed for the agenda of the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders is within the scope of responsibility thereof and/or complies with the provisions of the present Federal Law and other legal acts of the Russian Federation.

7. The decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders or the substantiated decision to refuse to convene such a meeting shall be forwarded to the persons who requested the convocation thereof, within three days after the date of the decision.

The decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company to refuse to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders shall be subject to court appeal.

8. If the board of directors fails to adopt a decision to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders or adopts a decision to refuse to convene it, within the term established by the present Federal Law, the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders may be convened by the bodies and persons demanding the convocation thereof. In such a case the bodies and persons convening the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders have the powers stipulated by the present Federal Law which are required for convening and holding a general meeting of shareholders. In such a case the expenses incurred for the preparation and holding of the general meeting of shareholders may be reimbursed at the decision of a general meeting of shareholders by the company.

Article 56. Counting Commission

1. A counting commission, the quantitative and personal composition of which shall be approved by the general meeting of shareholders, shall be created in any company with more than one hundred holders of voting stock.

In a company having its register of shareholders held by a registrar the latter may be vested with responsibility for performing the functions of a vote counting commission. In a company with more than 500 shareholders owning voting shares the functions of a vote counting commission shall be performed by the registrar.

2. Not less than three persons may be on the counting commission. Members of the board of directors (or supervisory board), members of the audit commission (or internal auditor), members of a collegial executive body, a one-person executive body of the company, and likewise the management organization or manager, and also persons nominated as candidates for such offices are excluded from the counting commission composition.

3. If the effective term of powers of the vote counting commission has expired or the number of its members has become less than three and also when less than three members of the vote counting commission report for performing their duties the registrar may be asked to carry out the functions of the counts commission.

4. The counting commission shall verify powers and register persons attending the general meeting of shareholders, determine the quorum of the general meeting of shareholders, explain matters arising in connection with the realization by shareholders (or their representatives) of the right to vote at a general meeting, explain the procedure of voting with regard to matters submitted for voting, ensure the established procedure of voting and the right of shareholders to participate in the voting, count the votes, and total up the results of the voting, draw up minutes on the results of the voting, and transfer the ballots for voting to the archives.

Article 57. Procedure for Participation of Shareholders in a General Meeting of Shareholders

1. The right to participate in a general meeting of shareholders shall be carried out by the shareholder, either personally or through his representative.

A shareholder shall have the right at any time to replace his representative at a general meeting of shareholders, or personally to take part in the general meeting of shareholders.

The representative of a shareholder at a general meeting of shareholders shall operate in accordance with his powers, based on the instructions of federal laws or acts of duly empowered State agencies of agencies of local self-government, or of a power of attorney drawn up in writing. A power of attorney for voting must contain information on representing person and representative (in respect of a natural person - name, data of the document certifying the identity (series and (or) number of the document, date and place of issuance, body that has issued the document) and in respect of a legal entity - denomination and data on the location thereof). A power of attorney for voting must be formalized in accordance with the requirements of Clauses 4 and 5 of Article 185 of the Civil Code of the Russian Federation or certified by a notary.

2. In the event of the transfer of stock after the date of drawing up the list persons having a right to attend the general meeting of shareholders and before the date of conducting the general meeting of shareholders, the person included in this list having the right to participate in the general meeting of shareholders shall be obliged to issue to the acquirer a power of attorney for voting or to vote at the general meeting in accordance with the instructions of the acquirer of the stock. Said rule also shall apply to each subsequent instance of the transfer of a stock.

3. If a share of stock is held in common ownership by several persons, then the powers relating to voting at the general meeting of shareholders shall be carried out at their discretion by one of the common owners, or by their common representative. The powers of each of said persons must be duly formalized.

Article 58. The Quorum of a General Meeting of Shareholders

1. The general meeting of shareholders shall be deemed competent (deemed to have a quorum) if it is attended by shareholders owning in their aggregate more than half of the votes of floated voting shares of the company.

The "shareholders attending a general meeting of shareholders" shall be deemed the shareholders who have registered for the purpose of attending the meeting and the shareholders whose ballot papers were received at least two days prior to the date of the general meeting of shareholders. In the case of a general meeting of shareholders held in the form of postal voting the "shareholders attending a general meeting of shareholders" shall be deemed the shareholders whose ballot papers were received prior to the deadline for receipt of ballot papers.

2. If the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders includes issues to be voted on by various classes of voters the quorum for adoption of a decision on these issues shall be determined separately. In such a case the lack of a quorum for adopting a decision on issues voted on by one class of voters shall not be an obstacle for adopting a decision on issues voted by a different class of voters for which a quorum is available. SUB 5803

3. If there is no quorum for holding an annual general meeting of shareholders a repeated general meeting of shareholders with the same agenda shall be convened. If there is no quorum for holding an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders a repeated general meeting of shareholders with the same agenda may be convened.

A repeated general meeting of shareholders shall be competent (shall be deemed to have a quorum) if attended by shareholders owning in their aggregate at least 30 per cent of the votes of floated voting shares of the company. The charter of a company with more than 500 thousand shareholders may envisage a smaller quorum for holding a repeated general meeting of shareholders.

An announcement of convocation of a repeated general meeting of shareholders shall be issued under Article 52 of the present Federal Law. In such a case the provisions of Paragraph 2 Item 1 Article 52 of the present Federal Law shall not apply. The delivery, forwarding and publication of ballot papers in the case of a repeated general meeting of shareholders shall be effected in compliance with the provisions of Article 60 of the present Federal Law.

4. When a repeated general meeting of shareholders is held within 40 days after a failed general meeting of shareholders the persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders shall be designated according to the list of the persons entitled to attend the failed general meeting of shareholders.

Article 59. Voting at a General Meeting of Shareholders

Voting at a general meeting of shareholders shall be carried out according to the principle of "one share - one vote", except for conducting of a cumulative vote in the case stipulated by for by this Federal Law.

Article 60. The Ballot Paper

1. Voting on the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders may be done using ballot papers.

Voting on the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders of a company with more than 100 shareholders owning voting shares and also voting on the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders held in the form of postal voting shall be effected only using ballot papers.

2. A ballot paper shall be handed out against a signature to every person mentioned in the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders (a representative thereof) registered for the purpose of attending a general meeting of shareholders, except for the cases specified in Paragraph 2 of the present item.

Where a general meeting of shareholders is held in the form of postal voting and a general meeting of shareholders of a company with 1,000 and more shareholders owning voting shares and also of another company of which the charter envisages a compulsory forwarding (delivery) of ballot papers before a general meeting of shareholders, a ballot paper shall be forwarded or delivered against a signature to each person mentioned in the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders, not later than 20 days prior to the date of the general meeting of shareholders.

The ballot paper shall be forwarded by registered mail, unless another forwarding method is stipulated by the charter of the company.

The charter of a company having more than 500 thousand shareholders may envisage publication of ballot paper forms in a printed publication designated by the company to which all the shareholders of the company have access.

3. When a general meeting of shareholders is being held, except for a general meeting of shareholders held in the form of postal voting, by companies forwarding (delivering) ballot papers or publication of ballot paper forms in keeping with Item 2 of the present article, the persons included in the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders (representatives thereof) shall be entitled to attend such a meeting or send completed ballot papers to the company. In such a case, when the quorum is being determined and voting results are being calculated, account shall be taken of the votes represented by the ballot papers received by the company at least two days prior to the date of the general meeting of shareholders.

4. The ballot paper shall comprise the following:
the full company name of the company and its location;
the form of the general meeting of shareholders (a meeting or mail voting);
the date, place and time of the general meeting of shareholders and in cases when, under item 3 of the present article, completed ballot papers may be mailed to the company, a postal address to which ballot papers may be mailed, or in cases when the general meeting of shareholders is held in the form of postal voting, the deadline for receipt of ballot papers and a postal address to which completed ballot papers are to be sent;

the wording of decisions on each issue (the name of each nominee) on which voting is done using a given ballot paper;

voting options for each agenda item expressed with the words "for", "against" or "abstain"; an indication that the ballot paper must be signed by the shareholder.

In the event of cumulative voting the ballot paper shall contain an indication to this effect and an explanation of the meaning of cumulative voting.

Article 61. Counting Votes in Ballot Voting

In the event of voting carried out by ballots, the votes shall only be counted with regard to those matters for which the voter has given one of the possible votes. Ballots for voting which are filled out in a violation of the aforesaid requirement shall be deemed invalid and the votes shall not be counted with regard to the matters contained therein.

If a ballot for voting contains several matters issued on the ballot, then the failure to comply with the aforesaid requirement with respect to one or several matters shall not invalidate any correctly formulated votes on other matters.

Article 62. Minutes and Report on the Results of Voting

1. The counting commission shall draw up minutes with regard to the results of voting, signed by the members of the counting commission or by the person fulfilling the functions thereof. The minutes of voting results shall be compiled within 15 days after the closing of the general meeting of shareholders or the deadline for receipt of ballot papers where the general meeting of shareholders is held by postal voting.

2. After drawing up the minutes concerning the results of the voting and signing the minutes of the general meeting of shareholders, the ballots for voting shall be sealed by the counting commission and handed over to the company archives for storage.

3. The minutes concerning the results of the voting shall be subject to being attached to the minutes of the general meeting of shareholders.

4. The decisions adopted by a general meeting of shareholders and also the results of voting shall be announced at the general meeting of shareholders during which the voting was held or made available within ten days after the execution of minutes on the results of voting in the form of a report on the results of voting for the purpose of informing the persons included in the list of persons entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders, in the manner envisaged for a notice of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders.

Article 63. Minutes of a General Meeting of Shareholders

1. The minutes of a general meeting of shareholders shall be drawn up not later than 15 days after the closing of the general meeting of shareholders, in two copies. Both copies shall be signed by the person presiding at the general meeting of shareholders and by the secretary of the general meeting of shareholders.

2. There shall be specified in the minutes of a general meeting of shareholders:
the place and time of holding the general meeting of shareholders;
the total quantity of votes which the holders of voting stock of the company possess;
the quantity of votes which the shareholders taking part in the meeting possessed;
the chairman (or presidium) and secretary of the meeting and the agenda of the meeting.

The basic points of the speeches, the matters put up for voting, the results of the voting with regard to them, and the decisions adopted by the meeting must be contained in the minutes of the general meeting of shareholders of the company.

Chapter VIII. Board of Directors (or Supervisory Board) of a Company and Executive Body of a Company

Article 64. Board of Directors (or Supervisory Board) of a Company

1. The board of directors (or supervisory board) shall exercise general direction over the activity of the company, except for the deciding of matters relegated by this Federal Law to the authority of the general meeting of shareholders.

In a company with less than fifty holders of voting stock, the charter of the company may provide that the functions of the board of directors of the company (or supervisory board) shall be carried out by the general meeting of shareholders. In such event, the charter of the company must contain an instruction concerning the specified person or body of the company to whose authority the decision of the issue of conducting a general meeting of shareholders and the approval of its agenda is relegated.

2. By decision of the general meeting of shareholders, the members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company may in the period during which they perform their duties be paid remuneration and/or their expenses connected with their performance of the functions of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) may be compensated. The amounts of such remuneration and contributory compensation shall be established by decision of the general meeting of shareholders.

Article 65. The Scope of Responsibility of the Board of Directors (Supervisory Board) of a Company

1. The scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company shall include the resolution of issues of the general running of the company, except for issues deemed under the present Federal Law to be within the scope of responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders.

The following matters shall be within the scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company:

- 1) setting out priority guidelines of the company's development;
- 2) convening annual and extraordinary general meetings of shareholders, except for the cases specified in Item 8 Article 55 of the present Federal Law;
- 3) endorsing the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders;
- 4) setting a date for the compilation of the list of persons entitled to attend a general meeting of shareholders and other matters deemed to be the responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company under the provisions of Chapter VII of the present Federal Law and connected with the preparation and holding of a general meeting of shareholders;
- 5) increasing the authorised capital of the company by means of the company floating additional shares within the maximum limits of the quantity and categories (types) of announced shares if this is within its scope of responsibility under the present Federal Law;
- 6) the floating of bonds and other issue securities by the company in the cases specified by the present Federal Law;
- 7) assessing the price (valuation in terms of money) of assets, the floatation price and the buy-out price of issue securities in the cases specified in the present Federal Law;

8) acquiring shares, bonds and other securities floated by the company, in the cases specified by the present Federal Law;

9) forming an additional body of the company and terminating before the due date its powers if this is deemed within the scope of its powers under the charter of the company;

10) issuing recommendations as to the amount of remuneration and compensation payable to members of the in-house audit commission of the company and setting the rate of fee payable for the services of an auditor;

11) issuing recommendations as to the rate of dividend on shares and the procedure for the disbursement thereof;

12) using the company's reserve fund and other funds;

13) endorsing in-house documents of the company, except for in-house documents which under the present Federal Law must be endorsed by the general meeting of shareholders and also other in-house documents of the company which under the charter of the company must be endorsed by the executive bodies of the company;

14) forming branches and opening representative offices of the company;

15) approving large-scale deals in the cases specified in Chapter X of the present Federal Law;

16) approving the deals stipulated by Chapter XI of the present Federal Law;

17) endorsing the registrar of the company and the terms of agreement with the registrar and also rescinding this agreement;

17.1) rendering decision on the company's participation and on termination of the company's participation in other organisations (except for the organisations stated in Subitem 18 of Item 1 of Article 48 of this Federal Law), if under the company's charter it does pertain to the scope of authority of the company's executive bodies;

18) other matters envisaged by the present Federal Law and the charter of the company.

2. Matters within the scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company shall not be assigned to the executive body of the company to be resolved by it.

Article 66. Election of the Board of Directors (or Supervisory Board)

1. The members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company shall be elected by a general meeting of shareholders in the manner envisaged by the present Federal Law and the charter of the company, for a term ending at the time of the next annual general meeting of shareholders. If the general meeting of shareholders was not held when due according to Item 1 Article 47 of the present Federal Law the powers of the board of directors (supervisory board) shall be terminated, except the power to prepare, convene and hold the annual general meeting of shareholders.

Persons elected to the board of directors (or supervisory board) of a company may be re-elected an unlimited number of times.

By decision of a general meeting of shareholders the powers of all members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company may be terminated ahead of time.

Members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of a company to be established by way of re-organisation shall be elected subject to the specifics provided for by Chapter II of this Federal Law.

2. Only a natural person may be a member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company. A member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company shall not be a shareholder of the company.

The members of a collective executive body of the company shall not make up more than one quarter of the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company. A person exercising the functions of a sole executive body shall not be at the same time chairman of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company.

3. The quantitative composition of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall be determined by the statute of the company or by decision of a general meeting of shareholders but may not be less than five members.

For a company with more than one thousand holders of voting stock, the quantitative composition of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company may not be less than seven members, and for a company with more than ten thousand holders of common and other voting stock, not less than nine members.

4. The election of the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) shall be carried out by cumulative voting.

In cumulative voting the number of votes belonging to each shareholder shall be increased by the number of persons who must be elected to the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company and the shareholder shall be entitled to cast the votes thus received for one candidate or to distribute them among two or more candidates.

The candidates who receive the largest number of votes shall be elected to the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company.

Article 67. Chairman of the Board of Directors (or Supervisory Board)

1. The chairman of the board of directors (or supervisory board) shall be elected by the members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) from among their number by a majority vote of the total number of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company, unless otherwise provided by the charter of the company.

The board of directors (or supervisory board) of a company shall have the right at any time to re-elect its chairman by a majority of vote of the total number of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board), unless otherwise provided by the charter of the company.

2. The chairman of the board of directors (or supervisory board) shall organize its work, convene meetings of the board and preside at them, organize the keeping of the minutes at meetings, and preside at the general meeting of shareholders, unless provided otherwise by the charter of the company.

3. In the event of the absence of the chairman of the board of directors (or supervisory board), his functions shall be carried out by one of the other members of the board by decision of the board.

Article 68. Meeting of the Board of Directors (or Supervisory Board)

1. A meeting of the board of directors (or supervisory board) shall be convened by the chairman of the board (or supervisory board) at his own initiative, or at the demand of a member of the board, or of the audit commission (or internal auditor) or the auditor executive body, or other persons, as determined by the charter of the company. The procedure for the convocation and conducting of meetings of the board shall be determined by the charter of the company or an internal document of the company.

The charter or an in-house document of a company may have a clause whereby a written opinion on agenda items of a member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company is taken into account when quorum and results of voting are calculated if such a member is absent at a meeting of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, and also whereby decisions may be adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company by postal voting.

2. A quorum for conducting a meeting of the board shall be determined by the charter of the company, but must not be less than half of the number of elected members of the board of directors (or supervisory board). When the number of members of the board is less than the quantity making up said quorum the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall adopt a decision to convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders in order to elect the new members to the board. The remaining members of the board shall have the right to adopt a decision only concerning the convocation of such an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders.

3. Decisions shall be adopted at a meeting of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company by a majority vote of the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company attending the meeting, unless provided otherwise by this Federal Law, the charter of the company, or an internal document thereof determining the procedure for the convocation and conducting of meetings of the board of directors (or supervisory board). When deciding matters at a meeting of the board, each member of the board of shall have one vote.

A member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company is prohibited to transfer his/her vote to another person, in particular, another member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company.

The right of a casting vote of the chairman of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company in the event of the adoption by the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company of decisions by a tie vote of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company may be provided for by the charter of the company.

4. Minutes shall be kept at all meetings of the board of directors (or supervisory board).

The minutes of a meeting of the board shall be drawn up not later than three days after the conducting thereof.

There shall be specified in the minutes:

the place and time of holding it;

the persons present at the meeting;

the agenda of the meeting;

the matters put up for voting and the results of the voting with regard to them;

the decisions adopted.

The minutes of a meeting of the board of directors (or supervisory board) shall be signed by the person presiding at the meeting, who shall bear responsibility for the correctness of the drawing up of the minutes.

5. A member of the board of directors (supervisory council) of a company who has not taken part in voting or voted against a decision adopted by the board of directors (supervisory council) of the company in violation of the procedure established by this Federal Law, by other legal acts of the Russian Federation, or the charter of the company may appeal such decision to the court if such decision has violated his rights and legitimate interests. Such application may be filed to the court during one month from the day when the member of the board of directors (supervisory council) learned or had to learn about the adopted decision.

Article 69. Executive Body of a Company. One-person Executive Body of a Company (Director, General Director)

1. The everyday running of the company shall be the responsibility of a sole executive body (director, director general) or a sole executive body of the company (director, director general) and a collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company. The executive bodies shall report to the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company and the general meeting of shareholders.

The authority of a collective body must be determined by the charter of a company, providing for the existence simultaneously of a one-person and a collegial executive body. In such event, the person effectuating the functions of the one-person executive body of the company (director, general director) shall also exercise the functions of chairman of the collegial executive body of the company (management board, directorate).

By the decision of a general meeting of shareholders the powers of the sole executive body of the company may be transferred under a contract to a commercial organisation (management organisation) or an individual entrepreneur (manager). A decision whereby the powers of a sole executive body of a company are transferred to a management organisation or a manager shall be adopted by the general meeting of shareholders only at the proposal of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company.

2. To the authority of the executive body of the company shall be relegated all matters of the direction of the current activity of the company, except for matters relegated to the authority of the general meeting of shareholders or board of directors (or supervisory board).

The executive body of the company shall organize the fulfillment of the decisions of the general meeting of shareholders and board of directors (or supervisory board).

A one-person executive body of a company (director, general director) shall operate in the name of the company without a power of attorney, and this includes his power to represent its interests, conclude transactions in the name of the company, confirm personnel hiring, and issue orders and give instructions binding on all workers of the company.

3. The formation of executive bodies of a company and termination of their powers before the due date shall be the responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders, unless the resolution of these matters is within the scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company.

The rights and duties of the one-person executive body of the company (director, general director), members of the collegial executive body of the company (management board, directorate), management organization, or manager with regard to the exercise of the direction of the day-to-day activity of the company shall be determined by this Federal Law, by other laws of the Russian Federation, and by the contract concluded by each of them with the company. The contract shall be signed in the name of the company by the chairman of the board of directors (or supervisory board) or by the person empowered by the board of directors (or supervisory board).

The operation of legislation of the Russian Federation concerning labor shall extend to relations between the company and the one-person executive body of the company (director, general director) and/or members of the collegial executive body of the company (management board, directorate), in that part which is not contrary to the provisions of this Federal Law.

The combining in one person of the functions of a one-person executive body of the company (director, general director) a member of the collegial executive body (management board, directorate), or of an office in the management bodies of other organizations shall be permitted only with the consent of the board of directors (or supervisory board).

The company whose personal executive body's authority is transferred to the management organisation or the manager, shall acquire the rights and assume the civil duties through the management organisation or the manager in compliance with Paragraph One of Item 1 of Article 53 of the Civil Code of the Russian Federation.

4. If the formation of executive bodies is not within the scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company under the charter of the company the general meeting of shareholders shall be entitled at any time to adopt a decision to terminate before due time the powers of the sole executive body of the company (director, director general), the members of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company. The general meeting of shareholders shall be entitled at any time to adopt a decision to terminate before the due date the powers of the management organisation or manager.

If, under the charter of the company, the formation of executive bodies is within the scope of responsibility of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company it shall be at any time entitled to adopt a decision to terminate before due date the powers of the sole executive body of the company (director, director general), members of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) and to form new executive bodies.

In case when the formation of executive bodies is the responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders the charter of the company may envisage a right of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to adopt a decision to suspend the powers of the sole executive body of the company (director, director general). The charter of the company may envisage a right of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to adopt a decision to suspend the powers of the management organisation or manager. Simultaneously with these decisions, the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall adopt a decision to set up an interim sole executive body of the company (director, director general) and convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders for the purpose of taking a decision on the termination before the due date of the powers of the sole executive body of the company (director, director general) or of the management organisation (manager) and the formation of a new sole executive body (director, director general) or on the transfer of the powers of the sole executive body of the company (director, director general) to a management organisation or a manager.

Where the formation of executive bodies is the responsibility of the general meeting of shareholders and the sole executive body of the company (director, director general) cannot execute their duties the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall be entitled to adopt a decision to set up an interim sole executive body of the company (director, director general) and convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders for the purpose of making a decision as to the termination before the due date of the powers of the sole executive body of the company (director, director general) or the management organisation (manager) and the formation of a new executive body of the company or the transfer of the powers of the sole executive body of the company to a management organisation or a manager.

All the decisions mentioned in Paragraphs 3 and 4 of the present item shall be adopted by a majority of three quarters of the votes of members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company, with the votes of former members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company not being taken into account.

The interim executive bodies of a company shall be responsible for everyday running of the company within the scope of responsibility of the company's executive bodies, unless the scope of responsibility of interim executive bodies of the company is restricted by the charter of the company.

Article 70. Collegial Executive Body of a Company (Management Board, Directorate)

1. The collegial executive body of a company (management board, directorate) shall operate on the basis of the charter of the company, and also based on internal documents of the company (statute, rules of procedure, or other documents), approved by the general meeting of shareholders in which the periods and procedure for the convocation and conducting of its meetings, as well as the procedure for the adoption of decisions, are established.

2. The quorum of a meeting of the collective executive body of a company (board, directorate) shall be determined by the charter of the company or an in-house document of the company and this quorum shall be at least half of the elected members of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company. If the number of members of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company becomes less than the said quorum the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company shall adopt a decision to form an interim collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company and convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders for the purpose of electing a collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company, or if under the charter of the company it is within the scope of its responsibility, to form a collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company.

Minutes shall be produced at a meeting of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of a company. The minutes of a meeting of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of a company shall be presented to the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, the in-house audit commission of the company and an auditor of the company at their request.

Meetings of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of a company shall be convened by the person performing the functions of a sole executive body of the company (director, director general) who signs all documents in the name of the company and the minutes of meetings of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company, acts without a power of attorney in the name of the company under the decisions of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of the company made within the scope of its responsibility.

A member of the collective executive body (management board, directorate) of a company is prohibited to transfer his/her voting right to another person, in particular, another member of this body.

Article 71. Responsibility of Members of a Board of Directors (or Supervisory Board), One-person Executive Body (Director, General Director) and/or Members of a Collegial Executive Body Management Board, Directorate), Management Organization, or Manager

1. The members of the board of directors (or supervisory board), one-person executive body (director, general director), an interim sole executive body, members of the collegial executive body (management board, directorate), and likewise the management organization or manager must, when exercising their rights and performing duties, operate in the interests of the company and exercise their rights and perform duties with respect to the company reasonably and in good faith.

2. Members of the board of directors (or supervisory board), one-person executive body (director, general director), an interim one-person executive body, members of the collegial executive body (management board, directorate) and likewise the management organisation or manager shall bear responsibility to the company for losses caused to the company due to their at-fault actions (or failure to act), unless other grounds for responsibility have been established by federal laws.

Members of the board of directors (or supervisory board), one-person executive body (director, general director), an interim one-person executive body, members of the collegial executive body (management board, directorate) and likewise the management organisation or manager shall bear responsibility to the company or its shareholders for losses caused to the company due to their at-fault actions (or failure to act), violating the procedure for acquisition of shares of an open joint-stock company provided for by Chapter XI.1 of this Federal Law.

The members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) and of the collegial executive body (management board, directorate) of a company who voted against decisions that entailed losses to the company or who did not take part in the voting shall not bear responsibility.

3. When determining the grounds and extent of responsibility of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board), of the one-person executive body (director, general director) and/or members of the collegial executive body (management board, directorate), and likewise of the management organization or manager, the ordinary course of business and other circumstances bearing on the matter must be taken into account.

4. If, in accordance with the provisions of this Article, several persons be liable, their liability to the company and in the instance, provided for by Paragraph Two of Item 2 of this Article, to a shareholder shall be joint and several.

5. A company or shareholder(s) possessing in aggregate no less than 1 per cent of placed common stock of the company shall have the right to apply to a court with a suit against a member of the board of directors (or supervisory board), one-person executive body (director, general director), interim one-person executive body (director, director general), member of collegial executive body (management board, directorate) and likewise the management organisation or manager concerning compensation of losses caused to the company in the event noted in Paragraph One of Item 2 of this Article.

A company or shareholder shall have the right to apply to a court with a suit against a member of the board of directors (or supervisory board), one-person executive body (director, general director), interim one-person executive body (director, director general), member of collegial executive body (management board, directorate) and likewise the management organisation or manager concerning compensation of losses caused thereto in the event noted in Paragraph One of Item 2 of this Article.

6. Representatives of the state or a municipal entity in the board of directors (supervisory board) of an open company shall be answerable under the present article along with the other members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of an open company.

Chapter IX. Acquisition and Purchase by a Company of Issued Stock

Article 72. Acquisition by a Company of Issued Stock

1. A company shall have the right to acquire stock issued by it by a decision of the general meeting of shareholders concerning the decrease of charter capital of the company by means of the acquisition of part of the issued stock, for the purpose of reducing the total quantity thereof, if this has been provided for by the charter of the company.

The company shall have no right to adopt a decision concerning the decrease of charter capital of the company by means of the acquisition of part of the issued stock for the purpose of reducing the total quantity thereof if the par value of the stock remaining in circulation becomes lower than the minimum charter capital provided for by this Federal Law.

2. The company, if there is a provision to this effect in its charter, shall be entitled to acquire shares it has floated, by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders or decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company if under the charter of the company the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company has a right to make such a decision.

The company shall not have the right to adopt a decision concerning the acquisition by the company of stock if the par value of the stock of the company in circulation comprises less than 90 percent of the charter capital of the company.

3. Stock shares acquired by the company on the basis of a decision adopted by the general meeting of shareholders concerning a decrease in the charter capital of the company by means of acquisition of stock for the purpose of reducing the total quantity thereof shall be canceled when they are acquired.

Shares acquired by the company under Item 2 of the present article shall not confer a voting right, they shall not be taken into account in counting votes and no dividend shall be accrued thereon. Such shares shall be sold at the price not lower than their market value within one year after the date of their acquisition. Otherwise the general meeting of shareholders shall adopt a decision to reduce the authorised capital of the company by redeeming these shares.

4. The categories (or types) of stock to be acquired, the quantity of stock to be acquired by the company of each category (or type), the price of acquisition, the form and period for paying up, and also the period during which the acquisition of stock shall be carried out must be determined by the decision on the acquisition of stock.

Unless otherwise provided for by the charter of the company, the paying up of stock in the event of its acquisition shall be carried out in cash. The period during which the acquisition of stock is carried out may not be less than 30 days. The price of acquisition by the company of stock shall be determined in accordance with Article 77 of this Federal Law.

Each holder of stock of specified categories (or types), the decision concerning the acquisition of which is adopted, shall have the right to sell such stock, and the company shall be obliged to purchase it. If the total quantity of stock with respect to which applications have been received concerning their acquisition exceeds the quantity of stock which may be acquired by the company, taking into account the limitations established by this Article, then the stock shall be acquired from the shareholders in proportion to their stated demands.

5. Not later than 30 days before the commencement of the period during which the acquisition of stock is carried out, the company shall be obliged to inform the holders of stock of the specified categories (or types). The notice must contain the information specified in paragraph one of Clause 4 of this Article.

Article 73. Limitations on Acquisition of Issued Stock by a Company

1. A company shall not have the right to acquire common stock issued by it:
until payment up in full of the entire charter capital of the company;
if at the time of their acquisition the company indicia of insolvency (or bankruptcy) in accordance with the laws of the Russian Federation on the insolvency (or bankruptcy) of enterprises, or if said indicia appear as a result of the acquisition of such stock;
if as of its acquisition the value of the net assets of the company is less than its charter capital, reserve fund, and excess of the liquidation value of the issued preferred stock over the par value determined by the charter, or becomes less than the amount thereof as a result of the acquisition of the stock.

2. A company shall not have the right to exercise the acquisition of preferred stock of a specified type issued by it:
until payment up in full of the entire charter capital of the company;
if at the time of their acquisition the company bears indicia of insolvency (or bankruptcy) in accordance with the laws of the Russian Federation on the insolvency (or bankruptcy) of enterprises, or if said indicia appear as a result of the acquisition of such stock;
if at the time of their acquisition the value of the net assets of the company is less than its charter capital, reserve fund, and excess of the liquidation value of the issued preferred stock over the par value determined by the charter, the holders of which possess a preference in priority of payment of the liquidation value over the holders of types of preferred stock subject to acquisition, or if it becomes less than this amount as a result of the acquisition of the stock.

3. A company shall not have the right to acquire issued stock before the purchase of all stock, the demands concerning the purchase of which have been submitted in accordance with Article 76 of this Federal Law.

Article 74. Consolidation and Splitting of Stock

1. By decision of the general meeting of shareholders, a company shall have the right to consolidate issued stock, as a result of which two or more stock shares of the company shall be converted into one new stock share of the same category (or type). In such a case, respective changes relative to the par value and quantity of the the company's floated and announced shares of a relevant category (type) shall be made in the charter of the company.

2. By decision of the general meeting of shareholders, a company shall have the right to carry out the splitting of issued stock of the company, as a result of which one stock share of the company is converted into two or more stock shares of the same category (or type). In such a case, respective changes regarding to the par value and quantity of the the company's floated and announced shares of a relevant category (type) shall be made in the charter of the company.

Article 75. Purchase of Stock by a Company at the Demand of Shareholders

1. Holders of voting stock shall have the right to demand the purchase by the company of all or part of the stock owned by them in instances of:

reorganization of the company or the conclusion of a large-scale transaction, the decision concerning the endorsement of which is adopted by the general meeting of shareholders in accordance with Clause 3 of Article 79 of this Federal Law, if they voted against the adoption of the decision concerning its reorganization or the endorsement of the said transaction, or if they did not take part in the voting on such matters;

amendments and addenda to the charter of the company or approval of a restated version of the charter of the company which limit their rights, if they voted against the adoption of the respective decision or did not take part in the voting.

2. The list of shareholders who have the right to demand the purchase by the company of stock owned by them shall be drawn up on the basis of data from the shareholders register on the day of drawing up the list of persons who have the right to participate in the general meeting of shareholders, the agenda for which includes the matters, the voting with regard to which in accordance with this Federal Law may give rise to right to demand the purchase of the stock.

3. The buy-out of shares shall be effected by the company at a price determined by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company but not below the market price which is to be assessed by an independent appraiser with no account taken of its variation resulting from the actions of the company which caused the occurrence of a right to claim share valuation and buy-out.

Article 76. Procedure for Exercise by Shareholders of the Right to Demand Purchase by a Company of Stock Owned by Them

1. A company shall be obliged to give notice to shareholders about the existence of their right to demand the purchase by the company of stock owned by them, the price, and the procedure for the exercise of the purchase.

2. The notice to the shareholders concerning the holding of a general meeting of shareholders, the agenda of which includes the matters, voting with regard to which may in accordance with this Federal Law give rise to the right to demand the purchase by the company of stock, must contain the information specified in Clause 1 of this Article.

3. A stockholder's demand in writing for redemption of the stocks owned by him shall be sent to the company, indicating the stockholder's place of residence (location) and the number of stocks whose redemption he demands. The signature of the stockholder being a natural person, as well as of his representative, on the stockholder's demand for redeeming the stocks owned by him and on the withdrawal of the said demand must be attested and certified by a notary public or by the holder of the register of the company's stockholders.

The demands of shareholders concerning the purchase by the company of stock owned by them must be submitted to the company not later than 45 days from the date of the adoption of the respective decision by the general meeting of shareholders.

As of the time of receiving by a company a stockholder's demand for redeeming the stocks owned by him up and pending the time of making an entry to the register of the company's stockholders on the transfer of ownership of the stocks to be redeemed to the company or pending the stockholder's withdrawal of his demand for redeeming these stocks, the stockholder shall not be entitled to make transactions with third persons connected with alienation or charging of these stocks, and the holder of the said register shall make the appropriate entry to the register of the company's stockholders. A stockholder's withdrawal of his demand for redeeming the stocks owned by him must come to the company within the time period provided for by Paragraph Two of this Item.

4. Upon the expiry of the time period specified by Paragraph Two of Item 3 of this Article the company shall be obliged within 30 days to redeem stocks from the stockholders that have submitted demands for their redemption.

The company's board of directors (or supervisory board) at the latest in 50 days as of the date of adopting the appropriate decision by a general meeting of shareholders shall endorse a report on the results of stockholders' submitting demands for redeeming the stocks owned by them.

The holder of the register of the company's stockholders shall make an entry to this register on the transfer of ownership of the stocks to be redeemed to the company on the basis of a report on the results of submitting by a stockholder or stockholders demands for redeeming the stocks owned by them, endorsed by the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) and on the basis of demands of a stockholder or stockholders for redeeming the stocks owned by them, as well as of the documents proving the discharge by the company of its duty to pay monetary funds to the stockholder or stockholders who have submitted demands for redeeming the stocks owned by them.

5. The purchase of stock by the company shall be carried out at the price specified in the communication concerning the conducting of the general meeting, the agenda of which shall include the matters, voting with regard to which may in accordance with this Federal Law give rise to the right to demand the purchase of stock by the company. The total amount of assets directed by the company towards the purchase of the stock may not exceed 10 percent of the value of the net assets of the company on the date of the adoption of the decision which gives rise to the right of the shareholders to demand the purchase by the company of the stock owned by them. If the total quantity of stock with respect to which demands have been stated concerning purchase exceed the quantity of stock which may be purchased by the company taking into account the above-established limitations, then the stock shall be purchased from the shareholders in proportion to the stated demands.

6. The stocks redeemed by the company shall be at the disposal thereof. The said stocks shall not grant the right of vote, shall not be counted when voting and dividends shall not be charged on them. The said stocks must be sold at a price not lower than the market one at the latest in one year as of the date of the transfer of ownership of the stocks to be redeemed to the company, otherwise a general meeting of stockholders must render a decision on decrease of the company's authorised capital by way of paying off the said stocks.

Article 77. Determination of the Price (Valuation in Monetary Terms) of Property

1. Where under the present Federal Law the price (valuation in terms of money) of assets and also the floatation price or buy-out price of issue securities of a company are determined by a decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company they shall be set on the basis of their market value.

If the person interested in accomplishing one or several deals in which the price (valuation in terms of money) of an asset is determined by the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company is a member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company the price (valuation in terms of money) of the asset shall be determined by a decision of the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company who are not interested in the accomplishment of the deal. In a company with 1,000 and more shareholders the price (valuation in terms of money) of an asset shall be determined by independent directors who are not interested in the accomplishment of the deal.

Where the number of uninterested directors is less than the quorum established by the charter for holding a sitting of the board of directors (or supervisory board) and (or) where all members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) are not independent directors, the price (valuation in monetary terms) of property may be determined by the decision of a general meeting of shareholders adopted in the procedure provided for by Item 4 of Article 83 of this Federal Law.

2. An independent appraiser may be invited to assess the market value of an asset.

The invitation of an independent appraiser for determining the market value shall be compulsory for determining the price for which shares are bought out by the company, from shareholders who own them, under Article 76 of the present Federal Law and also in the other cases if it is directly stipulated by the present Federal Law.

Where the floatation price of securities is being determined, for which the purchasing or demand price and supply price are published in the press on a regular basis, there is no compulsory requirement for an independent appraiser to be invited, and for the purpose of assessing the market value of such securities this purchasing price or demand price and supply price thereof shall be taken into account.

3. Where from 2 to 50 per cent inclusive of a company's voting stocks are owned by the State and (or) a municipal formation and the price (valuation in monetary terms) of property, price of floating the company's emissive securities, price of repurchase of the company's stocks (hereinafter referred to as of the price of units) are determined in compliance with this Article by the company's board of directors (or supervisory board), it shall be obligatory to notify the federal executive body authorised by the Government of the Russian Federation (hereinafter referred to as the authorised body) of the decision on determination of the price of units rendered by the company's board of directors (or supervisory board).

The following shall be submitted to the authorised body within the time period of three working days at most as of the date of rendering by the board of directors (or supervisory board) a decision on determination of the price of units:

a copy of the decision of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) on determination of the price of units;

a copy of the appraiser's report on evaluation, if his attraction for evaluation of the price of units is obligatory under this Federal Law and in other cases, where an appraiser has been attracted for determining the price of units;

other documents (copies of the documents) containing information on determination of the price of units prepared by the company, its stockholders or the company's contractor, if under this Federal Law an appraiser's attraction is not obligatory and an appraiser has not been attracted for determining the price of units.

The authorized body within the time period of 20 days at most as of the date of receiving the said documents shall be entitled to send to the company its reasoned opinion.

The authorised body shall consider the submitted documents and shall verify them as to the compliance:

of the evaluation report prepared by the appraiser with the evaluation standards and the legislation on evaluation activity;

of the decision of the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) on determination of the price of units with the existing market price of similar units, if under this Federal Law an appraiser's attraction is not obligatory.

A reasoned opinion of the authorised body shall be sent:

to the company in the event of rendering by the authorised body the decision on non-compliance of the price of the units determined by the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) in conformity to this Article without attracting an appraiser, with the existing market price of similar units. In the event of receiving such opinion, the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) shall render a decision on the refusal to make a transaction or shall render a decision on determination of the price of the units with the obligatory attraction of an appraiser and observance of the procedure established by this Article; to the self-regulated organisation of appraisers of which the appraiser who has effected the evaluation, is a member, in the event of rendering by the authorised body a decision on non-compliance of the evaluation report prepared by the appraiser with the evaluation standards and the legislation on evaluation activity, for an expert examination of the appropriate evaluation report by the self-regulated organisation.

An opinion of the authorised body may be appealed against judicially on the basis of a company's claim.

In the event of sending a reasoned opinion to a self-regulated organisation of appraisers, the authorised body shall issue an order to suspend execution of the decision of the board of directors (or supervisory board) on determination of the price of units for the time period of conducting an expert examination of the appropriate evaluation report and shall concurrently send to the company a notification in respect of addressing the self-regulated organization of appraisers for conducting such expert examination attaching thereto the said order and a copy of the reasoned opinion sent. The self-regulated organisation shall conduct such expert examination and on the basis of it shall send its opinion to the authorised body and the company within the time period of 20 days at most as of the date of receiving the reasoned opinion. If the self-regulated organisation of appraisers sends a negative opinion based on the results of the expert examination, the price of units determined by the company's board of directors (or supervisory board) in compliance with this Article shall be declared incorrect.

The authorised body shall be entitled to dispute the results of an expert examination in a judicial procedure.

If the authorised body has not sent to the company an opinion within the time period established by this Article, the price of units shall be declared correct and recommended for making a transaction.

The transaction made by a company in contravention of the procedure established by this Article or whose price is incorrect under this Article, can be declared invalid on the basis of a claim of the authorised body within six months as of the date when the authorised body learned or should have learned of making the transaction.

A court shall be entitled, subject to all the circumstances of the case, to deny declaring the transaction invalid, if the company can prove that the violations made are not major and the transaction has not entailed the infliction of damage to society, State and (or) a municipal formation.

Chapter X. Large-Scale Transactions

Article 78. Major Deals

1. A "major deal" means a deal (in particular, a loan, credit, charge, surety) or several interconnected deals, relating to the acquisition, alienation or possibility of alienation of assets by a company directly or indirectly, with the value of the assets being 25 per cent or more of the balance sheet value of the company's assets appraised according to its financial statements as of the last accounting date, except for deals accomplished in the course of the ordinary economic activity of the company, deals relating to the floatation by subscription (sale) of the company's ordinary shares and deals relating to the floatation of issue securities converted into ordinary shares of the company. The charter of the company may also establish other cases when the major deal approval procedure as envisaged by the present Federal Law extends to deals accomplished by the company.

In the event of alienation or the possibility of alienation of assets comparison shall be made between the balance sheet value of the company's assets and the value of such former assets determined according to accounting data and in the event of acquisition of assets, the purchase price thereof.

2. For the purpose of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company and the general meeting of shareholders adopting a decision to approve a major deal the price of the assets (services) being alienated or acquired shall be determined by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company in keeping with Article 77 of the present Federal Law.

Article 79. Procedure for the Approval of a Major Deal

1. A major deal shall be approved by the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company or the general meeting of shareholders in keeping with the present article.

2. A decision to approve a major deal of which the subject matter is assets worth 25 to 50 per cent of the balance sheet value of the company's assets shall be adopted by all the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company unanimously, with the votes of former members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company not being taken into account.

If a unanimous decision of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company has not been reached in respect of the approval of a major deal the matter of approving the deal may be referred by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company to the general meeting of shareholders for consideration and decision. In such a case the decision to approve the major deal shall be adopted by the general meeting of shareholders by a majority vote of the shareholders owning voting shares and attending the general meeting of shareholders.

3. The decision to approve a major deal of which the subject matter is assets worth over 50 per cent of the balance sheet value of the company's assets shall be adopted by a general meeting of shareholders by a majority of three quarters of the votes of shareholders owning voting shares and attending the general meeting of shareholders.

4. The decision whereby a major deal is approved shall comprise an indication of the person (s) being a party (parties) to the deal, the beneficiary (beneficiaries), the price, subject matter of the deal and its other significant terms and conditions.

5. If a major deal is at the same time a deal in which somebody is interested the procedure for the accomplishment of the deal shall be subject only to the provisions of Chapter IX of the present Federal Law.

6. A major deal accomplished in breach of the provisions of the present article may be recognised as null and void on the company's or a shareholder's complaint.

7. The provisions of the present article shall not apply to companies composed of one shareholder who at the same time performs the functions of a sole executive body.

Article 80. Abolished from July 1, 2006.

Chapter XI. Interest in Conclusion of a Transaction by a Company

Article 81. Interested Party Deals

1. Deals (in particular, a loan, credit, charge, surety) in the accomplishment of which a member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company, a person performing the functions of a sole executive body of a company, in particular, of the management organisation or manager, a member of the collective executive body of a company or a shareholder of a company is interested and has jointly with its affiliated person 20 or more per cent of the voting shares of the company as well as a person entitled to issue directions binding thereon, shall be accomplished by the company in compliance with the provisions of the present chapter.

The said persons shall be deemed interested in the accomplishment of a deal by the company in cases when they themselves, the spouses, parents, children, siblings and half brothers and sisters, step-parents and step-children and/or their affiliated persons:

are a party, beneficiary, mediator or representative in the deal;
own (each on his/her own or in their aggregate) 20 and more per cent of the shares (stake, interest) of a legal entity being a party, beneficiary, mediator or representative in the deal;
hold positions in the managerial bodies of a legal entity being a party, beneficiary, mediator or representative in the deal and also positions in the managerial bodies of the management organisation of such a legal entity;
in the other cases stipulated by the charter of the company.

2. The provisions of the present chapter shall not apply to:

companies composed of one shareholder who at the same time performs the functions of a sole executive body;
deals in the accomplishment of which all the shareholders of the company are interested; in the case of exercise of a priority right of acquisition of shares floated by the company and serial securities convertible into shares;
in the case of acquisition or buy-out of floated shares by the company;
in the case of a re-organisation of the company in the form of a merger (affiliation) of companies;
to transactions whose carrying out is obligatory for the company in accordance with federal laws and/or other legal acts of the Russian Federation and the settlements on which are made at fixed prices and tariffs established by the bodies authorised in the field of the state regulation of prices and tariffs.

Article 82. Information on an Interest in the Conclusion of a Transaction by a Company

The persons specified in Article 81 of this Federal Law shall be obliged to bring to the information of the board of directors (or supervisory board), audit commission (or internal auditor) and the auditor information concerning:

legal entities in which they possess autonomously or jointly with their affiliated person(s) 20 percent or more of the voting stock (or participatory shares, shares);
legal entities in whose management bodies they hold office;
transactions known to them to be concluded or proposed in which they may be deemed to be interested persons.

Article 83. Procedure for the Approval of an Interested Party Deal

1. An interested party deal shall be approved before its accomplishment, by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company or the by general meeting of shareholders in keeping with the present article.

2. In a company having 1,000 and less shareholders owning voting shares the decision to approve an interested party deal shall be adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company by a majority of votes of the directors who are not interested in the accomplishment thereof. If the number of the directors who are not interested makes up less than the quorum required by the charter for holding a meeting of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company a decision on this matter shall be adopted by the general meeting of shareholders in compliance with the procedure set out in Item 4 of the present article.

3. In a company having over 1,000 shareholders owning voting shares the decision to approve a interested party deal shall be adopted by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company by the majority vote of independent directors not interested in the accomplishment thereof. If all the members of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company are deemed interested persons and/or are not independent directors the deal may be approved by the general meeting of shareholders adopted in the manner described in Item 4 of the present article.

An "independent director" means a member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company who in the year preceding the year of the decision is not and had not been:

a person performing the functions of sole executive body of the company, in particular, its executive, member of the collective executive body, a person occupying positions in the managerial bodies of the management organisation;

a person whose spouse, parents, children, sibling and half brothers and sisters, step-parents and step-children are persons who occupy positions in the said managerial bodies of the company, the management organisation or are managers of the company;

an affiliated person of the company, except for a member of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company.

4. The decision to approve an interested party deal shall be adopted by the general meeting of shareholders by a majority of votes of all the shareholders not interested in the deal who are owners of voting shares, in the following cases:

if the subject matter of the deal or several interconnected deals is assets of which the value according to accounting data (the offer price of the asset) makes up two and more per cent of the balance sheet value of the company's assets according to its financial statements as of the last accounting date, except for the deals specified in Paragraphs 3 and 4 of the present item;

if the deal or several interconnected deals are a floatation by subscription or a sale of shares making up over two per cent of ordinary shares floated earlier by the company and ordinary shares into which can be converted issue securities floated earlier, such issue securities convertible into shares;

if the deal or several interconnected deals are a floatation by subscription of issue securities convertible into shares which can be converted into ordinary shares making up over two per cent of ordinary shares floated earlier by the company and ordinary shares that can be obtained from issue securities floated earlier, such issue securities convertible into shares.

5. An interested party deal shall not required the approval of general meeting of shareholders specified in Item 4 of the present article in cases when the terms of such a deal do not significantly differ from the terms of similar deals concluded by the company and an interested person in the course of ordinary business activity of the company that had been pursued until the time when the interested person was recognised as such. This exception shall only extend to interested party deals which were accomplished within the period of time after the time when the interested person is recognised as such and until the time of the next annual general meeting of shareholders.

6. The decision to approve of an interested party deal shall include an indication of the person (s) being parties thereto, beneficiary (beneficiaries), the price, subject matter of the deal and other significant terms and conditions thereof.

The general meeting of shareholders may adopt a decision to approve a deal (deals) between a company and an interested person which can be concluded in the future in the course of the company's ordinary economic activity. In such a case the decision of the general meeting of shareholders shall also specify the maximum amount of the deal (s). Such a decision shall remain in force until the next annual general meeting of shareholders.

7. For the purpose of the board of directors (supervisory board) of a company and the general meeting of shareholders adopting a decision to approve an deal the price of alienated or acquired assets or services shall be determined by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company under Article 77 of the present Federal Law.

8. Additional provisions governing the procedure for the making of an interested party deal may be established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

Article 84. Consequences of Failure to Comply with Requirements for Transaction, in Conclusion of Which There Is an Interest

1. A transaction in the conclusion of which there is an interest concluded with a violation of the requirements for a transaction provided for by the present Federal Law may be deemed to be invalid on a complaint filed by the company or a shareholder.

2. The interested person shall bear responsibility to the company in the amount of losses caused by him to the company. If several persons bear responsibility, their responsibility to the company shall be joint and several.

Chapter XI.1. Acquisition of More Than 30 Per Cent of Shares of an Open Company

Article 84.1. Voluntary Offer to Acquire Over 30 Per Cent of Shares of an Open Company

1. The person intending to acquire more than 30 per cent of the total number of common stock and preference stock of an open company entitling one to vote in compliance with Item 5 of Article 32 of this Federal Law, subject to the stock possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof, shall have the right to send to the open company a public offer, addressed to the shareholders possessing shares of appropriate categories (types), to acquire the shares of the public company that they have in their ownership (hereinafter also referred to as a voluntary offer).

A public offer may likewise contain an offer to owners of issuable securities convertible into the shares, specified in Paragraph One of this Item, to acquire such securities that they have in their ownership.

A voluntary offer shall be deemed made to all holders of the appropriate securities as of the time of its receipt by an open company.

2. The following must be indicated in a voluntary offer:

name or denomination of the person making the voluntary offer and other data provided for by Item 3 of this Article, as well as information on his place of residence or location;

name or denomination of shareholders of the open company that are affiliated persons of the person that has sent the voluntary offer;

number of shares of the open company possessed by the person that has sent the voluntary offer and by affiliated persons thereof;

kind, category (type) and number of the securities to be acquired; bid for the securities to be acquired or procedure for determining it. In the event that in the voluntary offer there is indicated the procedure for determining the price of the securities being acquired, then there must be ensured a uniform price of the acquisition of securities of this kind or category (type) for all their holders;

the period, procedure and form of payment for the securities being acquired. The voluntary offer must stipulate the payment with money for the securities being acquired. The voluntary offer may provide the opportunity for the holder of the securities being acquired, of choosing the form of payment for the securities being acquired with money or with other securities;

time period for accepting a voluntary offer (the time period within which an application for sale of securities must be received by the person that has sent the voluntary offer) that may not be less than 70 days and more than 90 days as of the time of receipt of the voluntary offer by an open company;
postal address to which an application for sale of securities must be sent;
procedure for transfer of securities and time period within which the securities must be entered into the personal account (depo account) of the person that has sent the voluntary offer;
data on the person that has sent the voluntary offer to be shown in an order to transfer securities;
data on the guarantor that has granted a bank guarantee in compliance with Item 5 of this Article and on the terms of the bank guarantee.

If the person that has sent a voluntary offer acts in the interests of a third person but in his own name, the voluntary offer must likewise contain the name or denomination of the person in whose interests the person, that has sent the voluntary offer, acts.

A voluntary offer concerning acquisition of securities circulating in auctions arranged by trade promoters on the securities market must contain a note, made by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market, on the date of submission thereto the preliminary notification provided for by Article 84.9 of this Federal Law.

3. If the person that has sent a voluntary offer is a legal entity, the voluntary offer shall be likewise shown data on all persons that:

independently or jointly with their affiliated persons have 20 and more per cent of votes in the supreme governing body of this legal entity; have 10 and more per cent of votes in the supreme governing body of this legal entity and are registered in the states and on the territories that grant a privileged tax treatment and (or) do not provide for disclosure and supply of information when making financial operations (in off-shore zones). For this, information on the persons, in whose interests the stock (shares) of a legal entity registered on the territory of an offshore zone are possessed, shall be likewise provided.

4. A voluntary offer may likewise indicate other data and terms that are not indicated in Items 2 and 3 of this Article, including the minimum number of securities in respect of which applications for sale must be filed, the address to which applications for sale of securities must be personally submitted, the plans of the person that has sent the voluntary offer in respect of the open company, including plans thereof in respect of the company's employees.

5. To a voluntary offer must be attached a bank guarantee providing for the guarantor's commitment to pay previous holders of the securities the price of sold securities in the event of a failure of the person that has sent the voluntary offer to discharge the duty of paying for acquired securities in due time. This bank guarantee may not be withdrawn, and may not contain a requirement for submission by beneficiaries of documents that are not provided for by this Chapter. The duration of the bank guarantee must expire at the earliest in six months after the end of the time period for payment for acquired securities specified in the voluntary offer.

6. A public offer to acquire the shares of an open company indicated in Item 1 of this Article, whose acceptance results in the intent of the person that has made the public offer to acquire over 30 per cent of the total number of such shares subject to the shares possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof, may be made solely in the procedure provided for by this Chapter.

It shall not be allowable for the said person to invite offers concerning acquisition of such share of stock or to invite offers concerning acquisition of such stock without indication of their number.

The person that has sent a voluntary offer shall not be entitled to acquire the stock, in respect of which such offer is made, under terms that differ from the terms of the voluntary offer prior to the expiry of the time period for acceptance thereof.

In the event of making transactions in defiance of the requirements of this Item, the results, provided for by Item 6 of Article 84.3 of this Federal Law, shall ensue.

7. The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply when acquiring over 30 per cent of stocks of a joint-stock company established in compliance with Federal Law No. 156-GZ of November 29, 2001 on Investment Funds.

Article 84.2. Obligatory Offer to Acquire the Stocks of an Open Company, as Well as Other Issuable Securities Convertible into Stocks of the Open Company

1. A person that has acquired over 30 per cent of the total number of the stocks of an open company indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law subject to the stocks, possessed by this person and affiliated persons thereof, shall be obliged within 35 days, as of the time of making the appropriate receipt entry into the personal account (depo account) or from the moment when the person learned or had to learn that he independently or jointly with his affiliated persons owns the indicated number of such shares, to send to the stockholders possessing the remaining stocks of the appropriate categories (types) and to holders of the issuable securities convertible into such stocks, a public offer to acquire such securities thereof (hereinafter referred to as an obligatory offer).

An obligatory offer shall be deemed made to all holders of the appropriate securities as of the time of its receipt by an open company.

Before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of an obligatory offer the person, that sent the obligatory offer, shall not be entitled to acquire the securities, in respect of which the obligatory offer is made, under terms that differ from those of the obligatory offer.

2. The following must be indicated in a voluntary offer:

name or denomination of the person making the obligatory offer and other data provided for by Item 3 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, as well as information on its place of residence or location;

name or denomination of the shareholders of an open company which are affiliated persons of the person that sent the obligatory offer;

number of shares of an open company possessed by the person that sent the obligatory offer and by affiliated persons thereof;

kind, category (type) and number of the securities to be acquired; bid for the securities to be acquired or procedure for determining it (taking into account the requirements of paragraph six of Item 2 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law), as well as its substantiation, including data on the compliance of the bid for the securities to be acquired with the requirements of Item 4 of this Article;

time period for acceptance of the obligatory offer (time period within which an application for sale of securities must be received by the person that has sent the obligatory offer) that may not be less than 70 and more than 80 days as of the time of an open company receiving the obligatory offer;

postal address to which an application for sale of securities must be sent;

time period within which the securities must be entered to the personal account (depo account) of the person that has sent the obligatory offer. For this, the said time period may not be less than 15 days as of the date of expiry of the time period for acceptance of the obligatory offer;

time period for payment for the securities that may not be more than 15 days as of time of making the appropriate receipt entry on the personal account (depo account) of the person that sent the obligatory offer;

data on the person that sent the obligatory offer to be shown in an order to transfer securities;

data on the guarantor that has granted a bank guarantee in compliance with Item 3 of this Article and on the terms of the bank guarantee.

In the event of an independent appraiser determining the market value of securities, a copy of a report of the independent appraiser on the market value of the securities to be purchased must be attached to the obligatory offer sent to an open company.

An obligatory offer concerning acquisition of securities circulating in auctions, arranged by trade promoters on the securities market, must contain a note, made by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market, on the date of submitting thereto the preliminary notification provided for by Article 84.9 of this Federal Law.

An obligatory offer may contain plans of the person that has sent the obligatory offer in respect of the open company, including plans in respect of the employees thereof, as well as the address at which applications for sale of securities can be personally presented.

It shall not be allowable to state in an obligatory offer terms that are not provided for by this Item.

3. A bank guarantee complying with the requirements of Item 5 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law must be attached to an obligatory offer.

4. The price of the securities to be acquired which is based on an obligatory offer may not be less than the average weighted price thereof determined on the basis of the results of auctions arranged by a trade promoter on the securities market within the six months preceding the date of sending the obligatory offer to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market in compliance with Items 1 and 2 of Article 84.9 of this Federal Law. If securities circulate in auctions arranged by two and more trade promoters on the securities market, their average weighted price shall be determined on the basis of the results of actions arranged by all the trade promoters on the securities market where the said securities have circulated six and more months.

If securities do not circulate in auctions arranged by trade promoters on the securities market or have circulated in auctions of trade promoters on the securities market for less than six months, the price of the securities to be acquired may not be less than the market value thereof determined by an independent appraiser. For this the market value of one appropriate stock (other security) shall be assessed.

If within six months preceding the date of sending to an open company an obligatory offer the person that sent the obligatory offer or affiliated persons thereof, has acquired or undertaken to acquire the appropriate securities, the price of the securities to be acquired may not be less than the maximum price at which the said persons acquired or undertook to acquire these securities.

5. An obligatory offer must provide for payment for the securities to be acquired in monetary funds.

An obligatory offer may provide for an opportunity to choose the form of payment for holders of the securities to be acquired to choose the form of payment for these securities in monetary funds or in other securities.

The value in monetary terms of the securities that may be used for payment for the securities to be acquired must not exceed the average weighted price determined on the basis of the results of auctions arranged by trade promoters on the securities market within the six months preceding the date of sending the obligatory offer to the open company or, if securities do not circulate in auctions of trade promoters on the securities market or have circulated in auctions of trade promoters on the securities market for less than six months, it must not exceed their market value determined by an independent appraiser. The documents, proving the value of the said securities in monetary terms, shall be attached to the obligatory offer.

6. From the time of acquiring over 30 per cent of the total number of the stocks of an open company, specified in Item 1 of this Article, and up to the date of sending to the open company an obligatory offer complying with the requirements of this Article, the person specified in Item 1 of this Article and affiliated persons thereof shall be entitled to vote solely with respect to the stocks constituting 30 per cent of the said stocks. For this, the remaining stocks, possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof, shall not be deemed to be voting shares and shall not be taken into account when mustering a quorum.

7. The rules of this Article shall extend to acquisition to a share of the stocks (specified in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law) that exceeds 50 and 75 per cent of the total number of such stocks of an open company. In this case, the restrictions, established by Item 6 of this Article, shall extend solely to the newly acquired stocks exceeding the appropriate share.

8. The requirements of this Article shall not apply when:

- acquiring stocks in the event of establishment or re-organisation of an open company;
- acquiring stocks on the basis of a previously sent voluntary offer to acquire all the securities of an open company provided for by Item 1 of this Article, if such voluntary offer complies with the requirements contained in Items from 2 to 5 of this Article;
- acquiring stocks on the basis of a previously sent obligatory offer;
- transfer of stocks by a person to affiliated persons thereof or transfer of stocks to a person by affiliated persons thereof, and also as a result of dividing the common property of spouses and by way of inheritance;
- paying off a part of shares of an open company;
- acquiring stocks as a result of a stockholder exercising of the priority right to acquisition of additional stocks being placed;
- acquiring stocks as a result of their placement by the person indicated in the securities prospectus as the person rendering services of arranging placement and (or) placing stocks, provided that the time period for possession of such securities by this person is six months at most;
- sending an open company a notification for holders of securities that they are entitled to demand repurchase of the securities in compliance with Article 84.7 of this Federal Law;
- sending an open company a demand to repurchase securities in compliance with Article 84.8 of this Federal Law.

Article 84.3. Duties of an Open Company after Receiving a Voluntary or Obligatory Offer. Procedure for Acceptance of a Voluntary or Obligatory Offer

1. A voluntary or obligatory offer shall be sent to the securities holders, which it is addressed to, through an open company.

After receiving by an open company a voluntary or obligatory offer, the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the open company shall be obliged to adopt recommendations in respect of the offer received, including assessment of the bid for the securities to be acquired and of probable change of their market value after acquisition thereof, assessment of plans of the person that has sent the voluntary or obligatory offer concerning the open company, and also those in respect of employees thereof.

In the event that the functions of the board of directors (supervisory council) of the company are performed by a general meeting of shareholders, the indicated recommendations may be adopted by a special general meeting of shareholders. In this case the request to hold a special general meeting of shareholders may be submitted to the company not later than 35 days before the expiry of the period for accepting the relevant offer and must contain draft recommendations with respect to the offer received. The recommendations adopted by the special general meeting of shareholders shall be brought to the notice of the persons included in the list of persons having the right to participate in a general meeting of shareholders in the procedure and within the time stipulated by Item 4 of Article 62 of this Federal Law.

2. An open company shall be obliged within 15 days as of the date of receiving a voluntary or obligatory offer to send the said offer together with the recommendations of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the open company to all securities' holders, to which it is addressed, in the procedure provided for by this Federal Law for sending a notice on holding a general meeting of stockholders. In the event that the functions of the board of directors (supervisory council) of the company are performed by a general meeting of shareholders, the open company must send the voluntary or obligatory offer received to the holders of the securities to whom it is addressed within five days from the date of its receipt.

A list of holders of the securities to be acquired shall be drawn up on the basis of the data of the register of securities owners as of the date of receipt by an open company of a voluntary or obligatory offer. If a nominal holder of securities is registered in the register of securities' holders, the said offers and recommendations shall be sent to the nominal holder for their further sending to the persons in whose interests he possesses the securities.

Where the statutes of an open company specify a printed publication for publishing announcements on holding a general meeting of stockholders, a voluntary or obligatory offer and recommendations of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of an open company must be published by the open company in this printed publication within 15 days as of the date of receiving the voluntary or obligatory offer.

In the event of presentation, by the person that has presented an obligatory offer, of a report of an independent appraiser on the market value of securities to be acquired, an open company, when sending the obligatory offer to securities holders, shall attach thereto a copy of the operative part of the report of an independent appraiser on the market value of the securities to be acquired. The open company shall be obliged to provide access to the report of the independent appraiser on the market value of the securities to be acquired to holders of the securities to be acquired in the procedure established by Item 2 of Article 91 of this Federal Law.

Concurrently with sending a voluntary or obligatory offer to securities holders an open company shall be obliged to send recommendations of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the open company to the person that sent the appropriate offer.

The outlays of the open company connected with discharge of the duties, provided for by this Item, shall be reimbursed by the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer.

The requirements of this Item concerning the sending and publishing of the recommendations of the board of directors (supervisory council) of an open company shall be applicable to the open companies having such a body of management.

3. After sending an open company a voluntary or obligatory offer the person, that sent the appropriate offer, shall have the right to bring information concerning this offer to knowledge of the appropriate securities' owners in any other way. In doing this, the volume and contents of such information must comply with the volume and contents of the data included in the voluntary or obligatory offer.

4. The owners of securities, to whom a voluntary or obligatory offer is addressed, shall be entitled to accept it by sending an application for sale of the securities to the postal address indicated in the voluntary or obligatory offer or, if such is provided for by the appropriate offer, by submitting such application in person to the address indicated in the voluntary or obligatory offer.

An application for the sale of securities must show the kind, category (type) and number of the securities that a securities' owner agrees to sell to the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer, as well as the chosen form of payment for them. In an application for sale of stocks on the basis of a voluntary offer may be likewise indicated the minimum number of stocks that a stockholder agrees to sell in the instance provided for by Item 5 of this Article.

A securities' holder shall be entitled to withdraw an application for sale of securities before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer in the event of him sending an application for sale of these securities to the person that sent a competitive offer provided for by Article 84.5 of this Federal Law to an open company. In this case, an application for sale of securities shall be withdrawn in the procedure provided for by this Item for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer.

In the event of receipt, before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer, by the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer of more than one application of a given securities owner for the sale of securities, the application bearing a later calendar date or, where there is no such date, the application received last shall be seen as valid.

5. All applications for sale of securities, received prior to the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer, shall be deemed received by the person, that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer, on the date of expiry of said time period.

Where the total number of the stocks, in respect of which applications for sale are filed, exceeds the number of stocks that the person, that sent a voluntary offer, intends to acquire, stocks of stockholders shall be acquired in proportion to the number of stocks indicated in the applications, if not otherwise provided for by the voluntary offer or by an application for sale of stocks.

6. In the event of non-compliance of a voluntary or obligatory offer or a contract of securities' acquisition, made on the basis of the voluntary or obligatory offer, with the requirements of this Federal Law, the former holder of the securities shall be entitled to demand of the person that sent the appropriate offer reimbursement of damage caused by it.

7. A securities' holder shall be obliged to transfer the securities free of any rights of third persons thereto.

8. If the securities to be acquired are not entered in the personal account (depo account) of the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer within the time period provided for by the appropriate offer, the person, that sent the obligatory or voluntary offer, shall be entitled to renounce unilaterally the contract of securities acquisition.

In the event of failure of the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer to discharge the duty of paying in due time for the securities to be acquired, the former owner of the securities shall be entitled at the choice thereof to make a claim to the guarantor that granted the bank guarantee securing the discharge of obligations under the voluntary or obligatory offer, for payment of the price of the securities to be acquired, attaching thereto the documents that prove writing the securities to be acquired off the personal account (depo account) of the securities' owner for their subsequent entry into the personal account (depo account) of the person that sent the voluntary or obligatory offer, or to unilaterally dissolve the contract of securities' acquisition and demand the securities return.

9. The person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer shall be obliged at the latest in 30 days as of the date of expiry of the time period for acceptance of the voluntary or obligatory offer to send to the open company and to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market a report on the outcome of acceptance of the appropriate offer. Requirements with respect to a report on the outcome of acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer and to the procedure for submission thereof shall be established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

Article 84.4. Modification of a Voluntary or Obligatory Offer

1. A person that has sent a voluntary or obligatory offer shall be entitled to make changes to the offer providing for the upward adjustment of the price of the securities to be acquired and (or) for shortening the time period for paying for the securities to be acquired.

In the event of an upward adjustment of the price of the securities to be acquired on the basis of a voluntary or obligatory offer, together with the appropriate amendments to be made in the voluntary or obligatory offer, shall be presented the bank guarantee securing the discharge of obligations under such offer in full subject to the upward adjustment of the price of the securities to be acquired.

In the event of an open company receiving the competitive offer provided for by Article 84.5 of this Federal Law, the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer shall be entitled to prolong the time period for acceptance thereof at most up to the time of expiry of the period for acceptance of the last competitive offer.

Amendments made to a voluntary or obligatory offer shall be effective in respect of all securities' holders, including the securities' holders that have sent applications for sale of securities prior to amending the appropriate offer.

2. In the event of the increase or reduction prior to the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer by more than 10 per cent of the share of the securities, in respect of which the appropriate offer is sent, by the person, that sent the appropriate offer, subject to the securities possessed by affiliated persons thereof, as well as in the event of amending the data on the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer, which are subject to showing, this person shall be obliged to make the appropriate amendments to the voluntary or obligatory offer.

In the event of amending a voluntary or obligatory offer less than 25 days before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of the appropriate offer, this time period shall be extended so that it is 25 days long.

3. Amendments to be made to a voluntary or obligatory offer shall be brought to knowledge of the securities' holders and of the person that has sent the competitive offer, provided for by Article 84.5 of this Federal Law, in the procedure established by Item 2 of Article 84.3 of this Federal Law.

Article 84.5. Competitive Offer

1. After receipt by an open company of a voluntary or obligatory offer, any person shall be entitled to send another voluntary offer in respect of the appropriate securities (hereinafter referred to as a competitive offer). A competitive offer must be sent to an open company at latest 25 days before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of the last of the offers previously received by the open company.

2. The price of the securities to be acquired, indicated in a competitive offer, may not be lower than the price of the securities to be acquired shown in the voluntary or obligatory offer sent before. The number of the securities to be acquired, indicated in a competitive offer, may not be less than the number of the securities to be acquired shown in the previously sent voluntary or obligatory offer, or a competitive offer must provide for acquisition of all securities of the appropriate kind or category (type).

3. The requirements of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law shall extend to a competitive offer sent before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary offer, while the requirements of Article 84.2 of this Federal Law shall extend to a competitive offer sent before the expiry of the time period for acceptance of an obligatory offer. With this, concurrently with sending a competitive offer to securities holders, an open company shall be likewise obliged to send it to the persons that have previously sent the voluntary or obligatory offer with respect to which the appropriate offer received by the open company is a competing offer.

Article 84.6. Procedure for the Rendering of Decisions by the Governing Bodies of an Open Company after Receiving a Voluntary or Obligatory Offer

1. After the receipt by an open company of a voluntary or obligatory offer a decision on the following issues shall be rendered exclusively by a general meeting of the open company's stockholders:

increase of the authorized capital of the open company by way of placing additional stocks within the limits of the number and categories (types) of declared stocks; placement by the open company of securities convertible into stocks, including options of the open company; approval of a transaction or several interrelated transactions connected with acquisition, alienation or probable direct or indirect alienation by the open company of property whose value amounts to 10 or more per cent of the balance sheet value of assets of the open company determined on the basis of data of its business accounting report documents as of the last reporting date, only if such transactions are not made while exercising the ordinary economic activities of the open company or had not been made before receipt by the open company of the voluntary or obligatory offer to acquire publicly circulating securities, or, in the event of receipt by the open company of a voluntary or obligatory offer to acquire publicly circulating securities, - prior to the time of disclosing information on sending the appropriate offer to the open company; approval of interested party transactions; acquisition by the open company of placed stocks in the instances provided for by this Federal Law; increase of remuneration to the persons holding offices in the governing bodies of the open company, setting the terms and conditions of termination of their tenure of office, including establishment or increase of compensation payable to these persons in the event of termination of their authority.

The validity of the restrictions established by this Item shall be terminated upon the expiry of 20 days as of the end of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer. If prior to this time the person that, as a result of accepting the voluntary or obligatory offer, has acquired over 30 per cent of the total number of the open company's stocks indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law counting the stocks possessed by this person and affiliated persons thereof, demands convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of stockholders of the open company whose agenda includes the election of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the open company, the restrictions established by this Item shall be in effect pending the counting of ballots concerning the election of members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the open company at the general meeting of stockholders of the open company where this issue was taken up.

2. A transaction made by an open company in defiance of the requirements of Item 1 of this Article may be declared invalid on the basis of a claim made by the open company, a stockholder or the person that has sent a voluntary or obligatory offer.

Article 84.7. Repurchase by the Person, That Has Acquired over 95 Per Cent of the Stock of an Open Company, of Securities of the Open Company upon the Request of Their Holders

1. A person that, as result of a voluntary offer to acquire all the securities of an open company provided for by Item 1 of Article 84.2 of this Federal Law or of an obligatory offer, has become the owner of over 95 per cent of the total number of the stocks of the open company specified in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, counting the stocks possessed by this person and affiliated persons thereof, shall be obliged to repurchase the remaining stocks of the open company possessed by other persons, as well as the issuable securities, convertible into such stocks of the open company, upon the request of their holders.

2. The person specified in Item 1 of this Article within 35 days as of the date of acquiring the appropriate share of securities shall be obliged to send to the securities' holders entitled to demand the securities' repurchase a notice that they enjoy this right.

The following must be indicated in a notice concerning the right to repurchase securities:

name or denomination of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article and other data provided for by Item 3 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, as well as information on the residence or location thereof;

names or denominations of the stockholders of an open company that are affiliated persons of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article;

number of the stocks of an open company possessed by the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article and by affiliated persons thereof;

price of the securities to be repurchased or procedure for determining it (taking into account the requirements of paragraph six of Item 2 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law), as well as its substantiation, including data on the compliance of the bid for the securities to be repurchased with the requirements of Item 6 of this Article; procedure for payment for the securities to be acquired;

postal address to which claims for repurchase of securities must be sent;

data on the person specified in Item 1 of this Article that are subject to inclusion in an order to transfer securities;

data on the guarantor granting a bank guarantee in compliance with Item 3 of this Article and the terms and conditions of the bank guarantee.

In the event of an independent appraiser assessing the market value of the securities to be repurchased, a copy of a report of the independent appraiser on the market value of the securities to be repurchased must be attached to a notice concerning the right to demand the securities' repurchase.

A notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities must provide for payment for the securities to be repurchased in monetary funds.

A notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities must contain a note, made by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market, in respect of the date of submitting thereto the notice provided for by Article 84.9 of this Federal Law.

A notice, concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities shall be sent through the company. The notice received by an open company shall be sent to the securities' holders in the procedure established by Item 2 of Article 84.3 of this Federal Law.

3. A bank guarantee, complying with the requirements of Item 5 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, must be attached to the notice.

4. Claims of securities' holders for repurchase of the securities, possessed by them, may be made at the latest in six months as of the date of sending thereto notices concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities by an open company.

Claims of securities' holders for repurchase of the securities, possessed by them, shall be sent by holders of these securities to the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article with the documents attached thereto that prove the removal of securities to be purchased from the personal account (depo account) of the securities' holder for their subsequent entry to the personal account (depo account) of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article.

Claims of securities' holders for repurchase of the securities possessed by them must specify the kind, category (type) and number of the securities to be repurchased.

A securities' holder shall be obliged to transfer securities free of any rights of third persons thereto.

5. The person, specified in Item 1 of this Article, shall be obliged to pay for the securities to be repurchased in compliance with this Article within 15 days as of the date of receiving the documents provided for by Item 4 of this Article.

6. Securities shall be repurchased at the price determined in the procedure provided for by Item 4 of Article 84.2 of this Federal Law. The said price may not be lower than:

the price at which such securities were acquired on the basis of a voluntary or obligatory offer as a result of which the person specified in Item 1 of this Article became the owner of over 95 per cent of the total number of the stocks of an open company indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law counting the stocks possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof;

the highest price at which the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article and affiliated persons thereof acquired or undertook to acquire these securities upon the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer as a result of which the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article became the owner of over 95 per cent of the total number of stocks of the open company specified in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law counting the stocks possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof.

7. In the event of failure of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article to discharge the duty to pay in due time for the securities to be repurchased, the former securities' holder shall be entitled at his choice to make a claim with respect to the guarantor that has granted a bank guarantee in compliance with Item 3 of this Article for paying the price of the securities to be purchased attaching the documents that prove the securities to be repurchased have been removed from the personal account (depo account) of the securities owner for their subsequent entering to the personal account (depo account) of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article, or to dissolve unilaterally a contract for the securities' acquisition and to demand the securities' return.

8. In the event of failure of the person specified in Item 1 of this Article to discharge the duty of sending a notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities in compliance with Item 2 of this Article, the owner of the securities subject to repurchase shall be entitled to file a claim for repurchase of the securities in the ownership thereof attaching a copy of the order to transfer the securities to be repurchased to the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article, that was submitted to the holder of the register of securities owners. Such claim may be raised within one year as of the date when the securities owner came to know about his right to demand the securities repurchase but at earliest upon the expiry of the time period indicated in Item 2 of this Article.

As of the time of presenting to the holder of the register of securities owners an order of the securities' owner to transfer the securities to be repurchased to the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article, all operations on the personal account of the securities' owners shall be blocked pending the time of payment for these securities by the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article and presentation to the holder of the register of securities' owners of the documents proving payment for the securities to be repurchased.

The person, specified in Item 1 of this Article, shall be obliged to pay for the securities to be repurchased within 15 days as of the date of receiving a claim for the securities repurchase.

Within three days after presentation by the person specified in Item 1 of this Article of the documents proving payment for the securities to be repurchased, the registrar shall be obliged to remove the securities to be repurchased from the personal account of the securities holder and enter them onto the personal account of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article.

Restrictions concerning the disposal of said personal account by the securities owner shall be removed and an order to transfer the securities to be repurchased shall be cancelled, if the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article has not presented to the holder of the register of securities owners the documents proving payment for the securities to be repurchased in the procedure provided for by this Article.

9. The person indicated in Item 1 of this Article, instead of discharging the duties, specified in Items from 1 to 7 of this Article, shall be entitled to send to an open company a claim for repurchase of securities in compliance with Article 84.8 of this Federal Law. When doing this, the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article shall be obliged to satisfy the claims of the securities' holders, concerning repurchase of the securities possessed by them, that are raised in compliance with Item 8 of this Article before the person, indicated in Item 1 of this Article sends a claim for the securities' repurchase in compliance with Article 84.8 of this Federal Law to the open company.

Article 84.8. Repurchase of Securities of an Open Company upon Request of a Person That Has Acquired over 95 Per cent of the Open Company's Stocks

1. The person indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.7 of this Federal Law shall be entitled to repurchase from stockholders possessing the stocks of an open company, specified in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, as well as from holders of the issuable securities convertible into such stocks of the open company, the said securities.

The person, indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.7 of this Federal Law, shall be entitled to send a claim for repurchase of the said securities to an open company within six months as of the time of expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary offer to acquire all the securities of the open company, provided for by Item 1 of Article 84.2 of this Federal Law, or of an obligatory offer if as a result of the acceptance of the relevant voluntary offer or obligatory offer at least 10 per cent of the total number of the open company's securities, indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, were acquired.

A claim for repurchase of securities shall be sent to holders of the securities to be repurchased through the open company.

2. The following must be indicated in a claim for repurchase of securities:

name or denomination of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article and other data provided for by Item 3 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, as well as information on the place of residence or location thereof;

name or denomination of the open company's stockholders that are affiliated persons of the person specified in Item 1 of this Article;

number of the open company's stocks possessed by the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article and by affiliated persons thereof;

kind, category (type) of the securities to be purchased;

price of the securities to be purchased and data on the compliance of the bid for them with the requirements of Item 4 of this Article;

date when a list of holders of the securities to be purchased shall be drawn up and which may be fixed at the earliest in 45 days and at latest in 60 days after sending a claim for repurchase of the securities to the open company; procedure for payment for the securities to be repurchased, including the time period for such payment that may not be more than 25 days as of the date of drawing up a list of owners of the securities to be repurchased. In the event that the securities being purchased have been arrested, then the indicated period shall be calculated from the day when the person mentioned in Item 1 of this Article learned or had to learn that the arrest had been lifted or removed with respect to such securities;

data on the notary public into whose deposit account the funds will be remitted in the instance provided for by Item 7 of this Article.

A claim for repurchase of securities must contain a note, made by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market, on the date of presentation thereto of the preliminary note provided for by Article 84.9 of this Federal Law.

A copy of a report of an independent appraiser on the market value of the securities to be purchased must be attached to the claim for repurchase of securities sent to an open company.

3. A received claim for repurchase of securities shall be sent by an open company to holders of the securities to be purchased in the procedure provided for by Item 2 of Article 84.3 of this Federal Law.

If the securities to be repurchased have been the subject of pledge or of another charge, a claim for the securities repurchase shall be likewise sent by an open company to the holder of pledge or to the person in whose interest the charge is made in compliance with the information received from the registrar and nominal securities holders.

Where a registrar holds the register of the securities owners the said claim shall be likewise sent by an open company to the registrar.

The outlays borne by the open company and registrar shall be subject to reimbursement by the person specified in Item 1 of this Article.

4. Securities shall be repurchased at a price not lower than the market value of the securities to be repurchased that must be determined by an independent appraiser. With this, the said price may not be lower than:

the price at which the securities were acquired on the basis of a voluntary or obligatory offer as a result of which the person, indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.7 of this Federal Law, became the owner of over 95 per cent of the total number of the stocks of the open company indicated in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, counting the stocks possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof;

the highest price at which the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article or affiliated persons thereof acquired or undertook to acquire these securities upon the expiry of the time period for acceptance of a voluntary or obligatory offer as a result of which the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article 84.7 of this Federal Law became the owner of over 95 per cent of the total number of the stocks of the open company specified in Item 1 of Article 84.1 of this Federal Law, counting the stocks possessed by this person and by affiliated persons thereof.

The securities to be repurchased shall be paid for solely in monetary funds.

The securities holder that does not agree with the price of the securities to be repurchased shall be entitled to make a claim with an arbitration court for reimbursement of losses connected with an improper fixing of the price of the securities to be repurchased. Said claim may be raised within six months as of the date when such holder of the securities came to know about removal of the securities to be repurchased from the personal account (depo account) thereof. The securities holder filing the said claim with an arbitration court shall not be a ground for suspension of the securities repurchase or for declaring it invalid.

5. An open company, within 14 days as of the date, when a list of holders of the securities to be repurchased is drawn up, shall be obliged to transfer the said list to the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article.

A list of holders of the securities to be repurchased shall be drawn up on the basis of data of the register of the securities holders and dated as specified in a claim for repurchase of the securities. To draw up a list of the securities holders, a nominal securities' holder shall present data on the persons in whose interests he holds the securities.

As of the date of drawing up a list of the securities' owners, the transfer of ownership of the securities to be repurchased and their encumbrance shall not be allowable. All operations with the securities to be repurchased in the register of securities owners, as well as on the appropriate depo accounts, shall be blocked starting from the date specified in a claim for repurchase of the securities.

Restrictions concerning the disposal of the securities to be repurchased by the securities holder shall be removed if the person, indicated in Item 1 of this Article, has not presented to the holder of the register of securities' owners the documents proving payment for the securities to be repurchased in the procedure provided for by this Article.

6. The holder of the securities to be repurchased shall be entitled to send to the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article an application containing the requisite elements of his bank account, to which the monetary funds payable for the securities to be repurchased must be remitted, or the address, to which the postal money order, concerning the securities to be repurchased, must be sent. In doing this, the application shall be deemed sent in due time, if it is received by the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article at the latest on the date when a list of holders of the securities to be repurchased is drawn up and which is shown in a claim for repurchase of the securities.

7. The person, specified in Item 1 of this Article, shall be obliged to pay for the securities to be repurchased using the bank requisite elements or the address indicated in applications of the owners of the securities included into the list of holders of the securities to be repurchased drawn up on the date specified in a claim for the securities repurchase.

In the event of non-receipt at the established time of applications of the said securities owners or in the absence in these applications of required information concerning the bank requisite elements or the address to be used for the postal money order, the person, indicated in Item 1 of this Article, shall be obliged to remit monetary funds for the securities to be repurchased to a public notary at the location of the open company. In the event of non-presentation by a nominal holder of data on the persons in whose interests he has securities in his ownership, the person, indicated in Item 1 of this Article, shall be obliged to remit monetary funds for the securities to be repurchased to the nominal holder. Remittance of monetary funds to a nominal holder shall be deemed a proper discharge of the obligation.

8. Within three days after submission by the person, indicated in Item 1 of this Article, of the documents proving his payment for the securities to be repurchased, the holder of the register of securities' owners shall be obliged to remove the securities to be purchased from their holders' personal accounts, as well as from the nominal holders' personal accounts, and to enter them onto the personal account of the person indicated in Item 1 of this Article. The write-off of the securities being bought out, from the personal account of the nominal holder in the procedure stipulated by this Article shall be grounds for the nominal holder to make an entry about the termination of the rights to the relevant securities on the depo account of the customer (deponent) without an order of the latter.

Article 84.9. State Control over Acquisition of an Open Company's Stocks

1. A voluntary or obligatory offer concerning acquisition of securities that circulate in auctions arranged by trade promoters on the securities market, the notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities provided for by Article 84.7 of this Federal Law and the claim for repurchase of securities provided for by Article 84.8 of this Federal Law, prior to being sent to an open company, shall be submitted to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market (hereinafter referred to as a preliminary notice).

The federal executive body in charge of the securities market shall be obliged at the time of presentation of said documents to make a note concerning the date of submission the preliminary notice on a copy of the appropriate document kept by the person submitting the said documents.

Upon the expiry of 15 days, as of the time of submitting a preliminary notice to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market, the person intending to make a voluntary or obligatory offer, or send the notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities provided for by Article 84.7 of this Federal Law or the claim for repurchase of securities, provided for by Article 84.8 of this Federal Law, shall be entitled to send the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim to an open company, if before the expiry of this time period the federal executive body in charge of the securities market does not send an order to bring the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim into accord with the requirements of this Federal Law for the reasons indicated in Item 4 of this Article.

2. A voluntary or obligatory offer concerning acquisition of securities, that do not circulate on the securities market shall be submitted by the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market at the latest on the date of sending the appropriate offer to an open company.

3. To the federal executive body, together with a voluntary or obligatory offer, the notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities, which is provided for by Article 84.7 of this Federal Law, or the claim for repurchase of securities provided for by Article 84.8 of this Federal Law, shall be submitted copies of the documents attached to the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim in compliance with requirements of this Federal Law, which must be attested and certified by a notary public.

4. The federal executive body in charge of the securities market shall send to the person that sent a voluntary or obligatory offer, the notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities, which is provided for by Article 84.7 of this Federal Law, or the claim for repurchase of securities, provided for by Article 84.8 of this Federal Law, an order to bring the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim into accord with the requirements of this Federal Law in the following cases;

non-submission of the documents required under this Federal Law for sending the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim to an open company; absence in the appropriate offer, in the said notice or claim of all data and terms provided for by this Chapter;

non-compliance of the procedure for fixing the price of the securities to be acquired or repurchased with the requirements of this Federal Law, in particular in the event of detecting within six months preceding the date of submission of documents to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market, the fact of fixing prices in respect of the securities to be acquired or repurchased that has caused understatement of the price of the securities to be acquired or repurchased.

An order of the federal executive body in charge of the securities market to bring the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim into accord with this Federal Law may be appealed against with an arbitration court.

5. Should the federal executive body in charge of the securities market miss the time for sending the order, it shall be entitled to make a claim with an arbitration court at the location of an open company for bringing the appropriate offer, the said notice or claim into accord with the requirements of this Federal Law for the reasons indicated in Item 4 of this Article.

6. Amendments made to a voluntary or obligatory offer in compliance with Article 84.4 of this Federal Law shall be presented to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market by the person making the said amendments at the latest on the date of sending the appropriate amendments to an open company.

7. The federal executive body in charge of the securities market shall establish requirements with respect to the procedure for submission to the federal executive body in charge of the securities market of a voluntary or obligatory offer, the notice concerning the right to demand repurchase of securities which is provided for by Article 84.7 of this Federal Law or the claim for repurchase of securities provided for by Article 84.8 of this Federal Law.

Article 84.10. Specifics of Preference Stocks Registration

For the purposes of this Chapter, when determining the share of stocks of an open company, registered the preference stocks of the open company granting the right of vote under the statutes thereof shall likewise be, if such preference stocks had been placed before January 1, 2002 or if issuable securities placed before January 1, 2002 have been converted into the preference stocks. With this, each preference stock of an open company granting more than one vote shall be registered in the number corresponding to the number of votes granted by it.

Chapter XII. Control over Financial-Economic Activity of Company

Article 85. Audit Commission (or Internal Auditor) of Company

1. In order to exercise control over the financial-economic activity of the company, an audit commission (or internal auditor) of the company shall be elected by the general meeting of shareholders in accordance with the charter of the company. Members of the inspection commission or the inspector of the company to be established shall be elected subject to the specifics provided for by Chapter II of this Federal Law.

By the decision of a general meeting of shareholders remuneration may be paid to the members of the in-house audit commission of a company during the term of their office and/or their expenses related to the exercise of their duties may be compensated. The amount of such remuneration and compensation shall be set by a decision of a general meeting of shareholders.

2. The authority of the audit commission (or internal auditor) of the company with regard to matters not provided for by this Federal Law shall be determined by the charter of the company.

The procedure for the activity of the audit commission (or internal auditor) shall be determined by an internal document of the company approved by the general meeting of shareholders.

3. The verification (or audit) of the financial-economic activity of a company shall be carried out with regard to the results of the activity of the company for the year, and also at any time at the initiative of the audit commission (or internal auditor) of the company, decision of the general meeting of shareholders, board of directors (or supervisory board), or at the demand of a shareholder(s) of the company possessing in aggregate not less than 10 per cent of the voting stock of the company.

4. At the demand of the audit commission (or internal auditor) of a company the persons holding office in the management bodies of the company shall be obliged to submit documents concerning the financial-economic activity of the company.

5. The audit commission (or internal auditor) of a company shall have the right to demand the convocation of an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders in accordance with Article 55 of this Federal Law.

6. The members of the audit commission (or internal auditor) of the company may not be simultaneously members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company, nor hold other offices in the management bodies of the company.

Stock owned by members of the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company or to persons holding office in the management bodies of the company may not participate in the voting when electing members of the audit commission (or internal auditor) of the company.

Article 86. Auditor of Company

1. The auditor (citizen or auditing organization) of a company shall exercise the verification of the financial-economic activity of a company in accordance with statutory acts of the Russian Federation on the basis of a contract concluded with him.

2. The general meeting of shareholders shall confirm the auditor of the company. The amount of payment for his services shall be determined by the board of directors (or supervisory board) of the company.

Article 87. Opinion of Audit Commission (or Internal Auditor) of Company or Auditor of Company

With regard to the results of the verification of the financial-economic activity of the company, the audit commission (or internal auditor) or the auditor of the company shall draw up an opinion, which must contain:

- approval of the reliability of the data contained in the reports and other financial documents of the company;

- information concerning facts of a violation of the procedure for keeping bookkeeping records and the submission of financial reports established by statutory acts of the Russian Federation, and also of statutory acts of the Russian Federation when effectuating financial-economic activity.

Chapter XIII. Records, Reports and Documents of a Company. Information Concerning the Company

Article 88. Bookkeeping Records and Financial Reports of Company

1. A company shall be obliged to keep the bookkeeping report and to submit the financial report according to the procedure established by this Federal Law and other statutory acts of the Russian Federation.

2. Responsibility for the organization, state, and reliability of the bookkeeping records in the company and the timely submission of the annual report and other financial reports to the respective agencies, and also information concerning the activity of the company to be submitted to the shareholders, creditors, and mass media, shall be borne by the executive body of the company in accordance with this Federal Law, other statutory acts of the Russian Federation, and the charter of the company.

3. The reliability of the information contained in the annual report of the company, annual financial statements shall be confirmed by the in-house audit commission of the company.

Before publication by the company of the documents specified in such Clause in accordance with Article 92 of this Federal Law, the company shall be obliged to enlist for annual verification and approval of the annual financial reports an auditor not connected by property interests with the company or its shareholders.

4. The annual report of the company shall be preliminarily endorsed by the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company and if the company has no board of directors (supervisory board), by the person performing the functions of a sole executive body of the company, at least 30 days prior to the date of the annual general meeting of shareholders.

Article 89. The Holding of the Documents of a Company

1. A company shall keep the following documents:
the memorandum of association;

- the charter of the company, amendments thereto registered in the established manner, the decision to form the company, the company's state registration document;

- documents confirming the company's rights in respect of the assets recorded on its balance sheet;

- in-house documents of the company;

- the regulations on the branch or representative office of the company;

- the annual reports;

- accounting documents;

- financial statements;

- the minutes of general meetings of shareholders (the decisions of the shareholder being the owner of all the voting shares of the company), decisions of the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, in-house audit commission of the company and the collective executive body (board, directorate) of the company;

- ballot papers and also powers of attorney (copies thereof) for participation in a general meeting of shareholders;

- reports of independent appraisers;

- lists of affiliated persons of the company;

- lists of person entitled to attend the general meeting of shareholders, entitled to receive dividends and other lists compiled by the company for the purposes of shareholders exercising their rights under the provisions of the present Federal Law;

reports of the in-house audit commission of the company, an auditor of the company, the state and municipal financial control bodies; issue prospectuses, quarterly issuer's reports and other documents containing information to be published or disclosed in another way under the present Federal Law and other federal laws;

other documents required under the present Federal Law, the charter of the company, in-house documents of the company, decisions of general meetings of shareholders, the board of directors (supervisory board) of the company, the managerial bodies of the company and also documents stipulated by legal acts of the Russian Federation.

2. The company shall store the documents specified in Item 1 of the present article at the location of its executive body in compliance with the procedure and for a term established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

Article 90. Granting of Information by a Company

Information concerning the company shall be granted by it in accordance with the requirements of this Federal Law and other statutory acts of the Russian Federation.

Article 91. The Provision of Information by the Company to Shareholders

1. The company shall provide shareholders with access to the documents specified in Item 1 Article 89 of the present Federal Law. Access to accounting documents and the minutes of meetings of the collective executive body shall be granted to the shareholders (shareholder) having in their aggregate at least 25 per cent of the voting shares of the company.

If the special right of participation of the Russian Federation, a Russian region or a municipal entity in the management of a company ("golden share") is being exercised in respect of the company such company shall provide representatives of the Russian Federation, the Russian region or municipal entity with access to all its documents.

2. The documents specified in Item 1 of the present article shall be provided by the company on the premises of its executive body for reading within seven days after the filing of the relevant request. If asked to do so by persons having a right of access to the documents specified in Item 1 of the present article the company shall provide them with copies of the said documents. The amount charged by the company for the provision of such copies shall not exceed the cost thereof.

Article 92. Compulsory Information Disclosure by a Company

1. An open company shall disclose the following:
its annual report, annual financial statements;
the issue prospectus of the company's shares in the cases stipulated by legal acts of the Russian Federation;

an announcement of a forthcoming general meeting of shareholders, in compliance with the procedure set out in the present Federal Law; other information determined by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

2. The compulsory disclosure of information shall be done by a company, in particular, a closed company in the event it floats bonds or other securities, within the scope and in the manner established by the federal executive body in charge of the securities market.

Article 93. Information Concerning Affiliated Persons of Company

1. A person shall be deemed to be affiliated in accordance with the requirements of the legislation of the Russian Federation.

2. Affiliated persons of a company shall be obliged to inform the company in writing about stock of the company owned by them, specifying their quantity and categories (or types) not later than 10 days from the date of acquisition of the stock.

3. If as a result of the failure to submit the said information through the fault of the affiliated person or of the untimely submission property damage is caused to the company, the affiliated person shall bear responsibility to the company in the amount of the damage caused.

4. A company shall be obliged to keep a record of its affiliated persons and to submit reports concerning them in accordance with the requirements of legislation of the Russian Federation.

Chapter XIV. Concluding Provisions

Article 94. Introduction into Effect of This Federal Law

1. This Federal Law shall be take effect on January 1, 1996.

2. As of the introduction into effect of this Federal Law, the statutory acts in effect on the territory of the Russian Federation shall apply in a part not contrary to this Federal Law until the bringing thereof into conformity with this Federal Law.

3. Beginning from the time of entry of the present Federal Law into force a company's constituent documents that do not comply with the provisions of the present Federal Law shall be applicable in as much as they do not conflict with said provisions.

On behalf of the Russian Federation, constituent entities of the Russian Federation and municipal formations stockholders' rights in respect of joint-stock companies which are under the ownership of the said public entities shall be exercised by appropriate property management committees, property funds or other authorised state bodies or local self-government bodies, except when the stocks of the said joint-stock companies are possessed on the basis of the right of economic control or day-to-day management by unitary enterprises and institutions or are transferred for trust management, as well as when stocks of the said joint-stock companies are managed by state corporations in compliance with federal laws.

4. The provisions of Paragraphs 2 and 3 of Article 7 of this Federal Law shall not apply to closed companies formed prior to the introduction of this Federal Law into effect.

5. Until the introduction into effect of the respective federal laws listed in Clause 4 Article 1 of this Federal Law, the companies shall operate on the basis of statutory acts of the Russian Federation adopted before the introduction into effect of this Federal Law.

6. To propose to the President of the Russian Federation within the period before March 1, 1996 to bring statutory acts issued by him into conformity with this Federal Law.

7. To charge the Government of the Russian Federation within the period before March 1, 1996 to:

bring the statutory acts issued by it into conformity with this Federal Law; adopt statutory acts ensuring the carrying out this Federal Law.

President of the Russian Federation

Boris Yeltsin

Moscow, the Kremlin